SAN JUAN CASUALTY LIST INCREASES HOURLY

WILL SUGGESTS JEWISH TROOPS FOR PALESTINE

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 31.—I thought they had the Jerusalem and Palestine thing pretty well settled as to whose it was. But it seems the Turks have broke out again.
Why don't the Jewish people recruit a lot of those East Side boys from New York and out in Chicago that fought so good in the war and send them over there?
A few regiments of those young boys would break those Mohammedans.
Yours,
WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Somebody told Pa Newc the other day that the detour to Walmoo used to be an old corduroy road. Probably that is what is the matter with it—it is getting worn down to the corduroy now!

With the passing of August, most people in this locality think of the summer as gone. This is true as far as bathing and camping are concerned because of the cold nights. September as a whole, however, is a delightful month and even those from California will admit that the weather here in September is almost ideal and that part of the year known as "Indian Summer" is unsurpassed in all the world. For a place to live all year round, New Castle offers as good an average for weather as any place in this country.

Monday we will be watching the markets for our friend the oyster. It has been a long time since we have had a month with an "R" in it.

Labor Day auto traffic through this section promises to be the heaviest of any holiday this year. Starting early this morning, scores of autos from other states were noted on the highways here, and as the day grew older the traffic became denser.

There was a feel-of-fall in the atmosphere this morning.

Tuesday is the next registration day for New Castle voters.

In a note sent to Pa Newc from New Castle, Delaware, by Bill Sandman of this city, he says: "Was watching for the Zep all the way from Washington, D. C., then picked up a paper in New Castle, Delaware, and noted that it passed over New Castle, Pa. I had better stayed at home to see it."

American Automobile Association heads have issued a warning asking all auto drivers to exercise more caution in driving about streets of the city when schools open next week. This is a timely warning and should be heeded by all drivers of motor vehicles. Many little tots, whose lives are extremely precious to their parents will be starting to school for the first time and will be forced to travel to and from the school building without the guiding hand of the parent.

Activities of all kinds will resume here next month. The schools will be open, lodges will resume, and civic organizations which have been inactive during the summer will get down to business again.

Labor Day will end the outing and tourist period for the most part, while (Continued On Page Two)

Seventy Four Believed Dead In Ship Crash

Death Toll Mounts In Sinking Of Steamer Near San Francisco

CAPTAIN OF SHIP
DIES IN DISASTER

Only Three Of Passenger List Of 23 Women Are Among Survivors

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—With a new check adding half a dozen more probable victims, the list of missing in the steamship San Juan disaster rose today to seventy-four.

The exact total of fatalities may never be determined, it was disclosed by A. E. Gillespie, president of the company that operated the San Francisco-Los Angeles liner which foundered at midnight Thursday after a collision with an oil tanker.

Gillespie pointed out there may have been extra passengers who boarded the San Juan just before she sailed and purchased tickets from the purser after the vessel cleared port.

Purser Missing

Only the purser would know how many such passengers the San Juan carried, Gillespie explained, and the purser was not among the survivors. Gillespie believed, however, that the belated passengers would not number more than three or four.

Eleven more survivors, four of them injured, arrived in San Francisco today on the coast guard cutter Shastee. The ill-fated craft, according to revised figures, carried sixty-six passengers and a crew of 50. Forty-two passengers and seamen were rescued.

Lumping into San Francisco under her own power, her bow plates torn and dented, the Standard Oil Tanker S. C. T. Dodd, which rammed and sank the coastwise liner in a heavy fog off the Santa Cruz coast, (Continued On Page Eleven)

Jury Exonerates Truck Driver In Death Of D. Ona

Find That Accident Was Unavoidable And That Glorioso Was Not To Blame

Coroners jury sitting last night at the inquest held at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz in the case of Dominick Ona, who was so seriously injured on last Tuesday afternoon when he died that night in the New Castle hospital, returned a verdict: "Dominick Ona came to his death as a result of injuries sustained when he ran into the truck of Joseph Glorioso, which was being driven west on Rabbit alley, that it was an unavoidable accident and that Glorioso was in no way to blame."

The inquest got under way about 7:30 o'clock with Coroner J. P. Caldwell presiding. Attorney Walter W. Brahm was present in the interests of Joseph Glorioso and he and Coroner J. P. Caldwell did the questioning of the four witnesses examined.

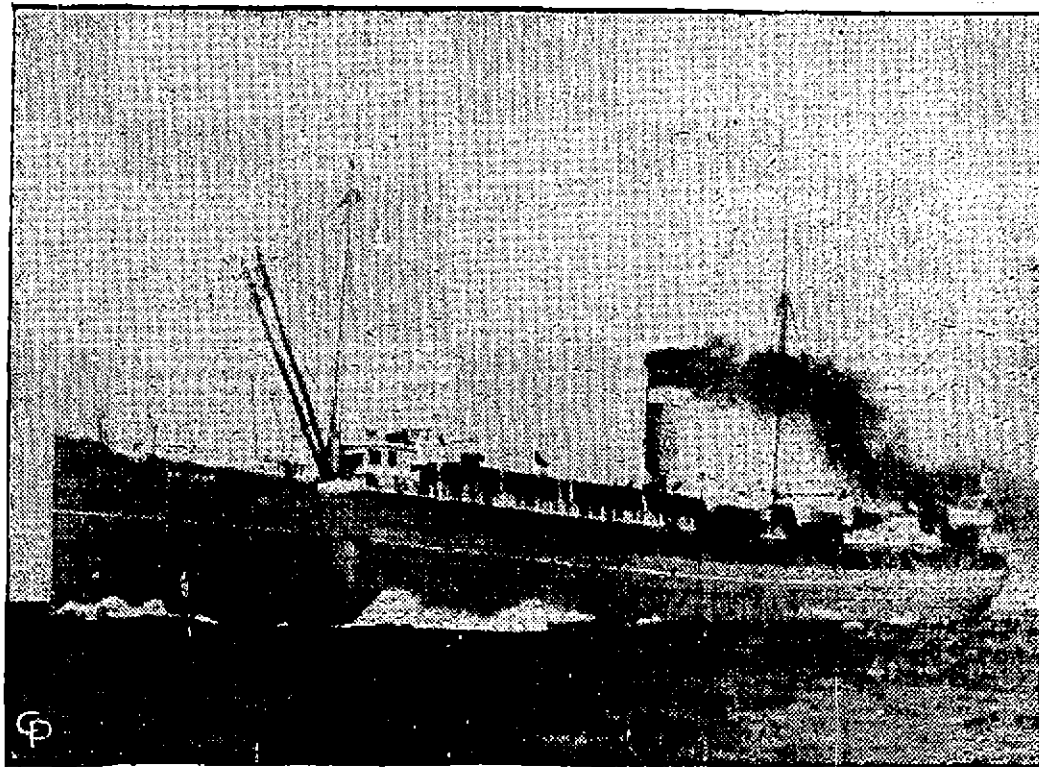

Boy Ran Into Him

Joseph Glorioso, driver of the truck that the little boy ran into, told of driving west on Rabbit alley that day. He had proceeded probably half way to Lafayette street and was at a point where there was a shanty, then a gate (this is at the rear of the Ona (Continued On Page Two)

Death

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—Thomas G. "Jack" Reid of Downey, Cal., who at last midnight flew into a new world's solo non-stop non-refuel record, was killed early today when his plane crashed into a tree near the municipal airport here.

Reid's mangled and crushed body was found by flyers in a navy plane which had been sent out with two others to search for the endurance flyer after he had been missing over the Cleveland airport for some time.

The ship which Reid was piloting had crashed head-on into a tree. It was completely demolished. Reid was (Continued On Page Two)

Mass Meeting Is Called Here

Hadassah Raising Fund For Relief Of Jewish People In Palestine

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR MEETING SUNDAY

A mass meeting has been called by the local Hadassah on Sunday afternoon, September 1, at 4 p. m. in the I. O. O. F. hall, 12 North Mill street for the purpose of organizing an emergency committee to appeal to the people of this locality to lend financial aid to the great tragedy that has overtaken the Jewish population in Palestine.

The Arab visits in the Holy Land make it absolutely necessary to send immediate relief. The entire medical staff of the Hadassah Medical organization in Palestine is being utilized to the utmost capacity.

An emergency committee has been formed to appeal to the people of America.

Those unable to attend the meeting are asked to kindly mail their contributions to L. Ruzewich, 34 South Jefferson street, treasurer of the local committee. All checks made payable to the Palestine Emergency committee will be transmitted immediately to Palestine through the channels of the emergency committee.

Those serving on the local committee are Dr. H. A. Frank, Ben Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feichtwanger, L. Ruzewich, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kohn, Dr. Eli Kaplan and N. J. Love.

Death Of California Endurance Flier And Injury To Lady Mary Heath Casts Spell

Sir Hubert Wilkins, Noted Arctic Explorer Weds Actress In Cleveland

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—A pall of deep gloom hung over today's events in the national air races. It was the sudden crash to death of Thomas G. Reid as he had passed into a new record for solo endurance flying some hours before the first event was called.

And it was the second death to mar what has been an otherwise splendid showing of all classes of heavier than air machines. Miss Marvel Crosson was another of the pioneers of the air to pay with her life for the advancement being made in aviation progress. She fell to her death in the west as a participant of the girls' derby last week.

Events Continue.

The events were to continue today, however, with great crowds filling spectators' spaces to witness the remaining races and stunts.

The high spot of yesterday's session of the races included more stunt flying by Col. Charles Lindbergh, innumerable races, glider contests and parachute jumps.

Charles "Speed" Holman, the daring pilot of southern California, gave the spectators a thrill that probably will be remembered for a long time to come. He took a Ford tri-motored transport plane off the ground and for the first time in history succeeded in stunting this type of ship. While the crowd held its breath, the daring Holman looped, barrel rolled, side-slipped and performed other aerial tricks usually performed only by bi-planes of small planes especially equipped for stunt flying.

Wilkins Weds Actress.

The weather was ideal for air racing yesterday and the officials in charge of the meet took advantage of it. They ran off a large number of events that had been postponed from earlier in the week.

An incidental feature of the races was the surprise marriage at the office of Justice of the Peace Joseph (Continued On Page Two)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—Lady Mary Heath, the famous British airwoman who was seriously injured in the crash of her plane here, was reported somewhat improved today.

At the Lakeside Hospital where she underwent a delicate operation for removal of bone pressing against the brain, it was stated that she regained consciousness for a brief period last night.

Her first words were to ask regarding progress of the National Air Races now under way here. Lady Heath was testing a plane for use in the races when the crash occurred.

It is the time for football men to gather at the college, preceding books and science halls, and other forms of knowledge. The coaches always have a lot of pessimism, they cannot win a game they say, they'll lose them all, or acairly. But when the whistle blows each fall, the team seems good as ever, but does a coach admit they're good, you know the answer, never. They are a pessimistic lot, they have no human greed, but much better to graze and lovel the weather's sixty-seven.

Committee On Waterways To Meet Tuesday

Chamber Of Commerce To Advance Proposal To Have Surrounding Streams Made Navigable

OTHER CITIES WILL BE ASKED TO ASSIST

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee for the advancement of waterways, of which L. G. Genkinger is chairman, will meet at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, September 3, for the purpose of expanding the committee and boosting the project among various cities and towns in the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning Valley districts.

This committee was named some time ago for the purpose of advancing the project of expanding the committee and boosting the project among various cities and towns in the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning Valley districts.

At this meeting, plans will be furthered for immediate action in launching a movement among other cities and towns in the district in furtherance of the project. Representatives will be named from the cities and towns effected, who will be asked to attend a general meeting at a later date, when it is hoped to have Congressman Swick and representatives of the war department present.

The subject of waterways is of vital importance to the welfare of New Castle and all members of the committee are asked to be present. In addition to Mr. Genkinger, chairman, other members of the committee are Fred L. Renz, James M. Smith, Robert J. Tully, D. S. Pyle, P. J. Flaherty, John A. Butler, Robert Long, David Kay, H. L. Gordon, Edward Beadle and E. L. Brundage.

W. J. Chapman of Brooklyn avenue, who has been on a fishing trip to Georgia Bay, Can., is expected to return home Monday.

the season for corn roasts will just get right under way.

One hundred and fifty Lawrence County Boy Scouts had the time of their lives yesterday as guests of the Pittsburgh baseball club in their game with the Cubs yesterday. The trip was made possible by the Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion who raised the fund to take the boys to Pittsburgh.

Pa. News offers E 40,042 as the highest motor license number seen in New Castle to date.

Unless we get several days of rain, pretty soon, Lawrence County farmers are going to suffer heavily from a drought. Wells and streams are getting pretty low. September is a rule, is a pretty dry month, and the farmers are apprehensive of a long dry spell.

Lawrence County's Boy Scout delegation arrived back home today after spending the past six weeks in England and Europe. The American Legion and city officials are planning a demonstration in their honor this evening. Local business firms can aid in the matter by displaying the American flag as asked by Mayor W. H. Gillespie.

Apparently the city has decided to clean the downtown streets at night. Early this morning, or around one o'clock, a corps of street workers were seen cleaning E. North street. Cleaning at night saves moving scores of automobiles.

Today marked the final to the annual city playground season. Appropriate programs were held at each grounds yesterday or some day previous. Nicholas R. Casillo, city supervisor, declares it one of the best since they were organized. Tennis courts, wading pools and numerous other features resulted from an improvement program this summer.

Pa. News thinks it necessary to say something about the beauty of Mill street as seen from the Highland avenue hill at night. The line of beautiful street lights gives Mill street the appearance of the "Great White Way."

Attention should be given the traffic lights at the corner of Mercer and North streets. The green light on the north corner of Mercer street was not working last night.

to land when the tragic news was brought to them by the air scouts who had found the flyer's body. Although he had broken the endurance record established by Lieut. Herbert J. Paby at Burbank, Cal., Reid had intended to stay aloft until dawn.

Friends of the flyer said he was to have gotten $100 for every hour he remained in the clouds above the record. Reid had planned to use this money for a honeymoon trip. He was married just the day before he left California for the 1929 national air races here.

Reid has been flying for 15 years. Part of his time was spent in the service of the U. S. navy. He had never had an accident prior to his death.

He was forced down by a defective spark plug in an Emeco plane at Long Beach, Cal., recently. He had reached 27 hours, 20 minutes in an attempt to eclipse the record when he was forced down.

Mrs. Reid, a former Toronto, Ont., girl, has been waiting for her husband at Downey, Cal., his home.

Fairview School To Have Reunion

Former Students And Teachers Will Gather Together On Labor Day

Former teachers and pupils of the Fairview school will gather together on Monday, Labor Day, at the school for the purpose of holding their fourth annual reunion.

It is anticipated that a large number of the former students and teachers will be able to attend the event and all are urged to be present if possible.

A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and a good time is promised to all who find it possible to be there.

Each family is to furnish a well filled basket, dishes and silver. Dinner will be served at 12 o'clock noon, daylight saving time.

The program at the Legion Home will be preceded by a parade which will form on East street at 7:15, moving out promptly at 7:30. Heading the parade will be the E. and A. band, city officials in automobiles, returning Boy Scouts in open cars, American Legion officials and Boy Scouts from all the county troops on foot.

The parade will move from East Street above North to Washington street, down Washington street to the diamond, thence up Jefferson street to the Legion Home, where a reviewing stand has been erected. Here the boys will be addressed briefly and welcomed back home by Mayor W. H. Gillespie and Attorney Walter W. Graham, while J. Lee Calahan will respond in behalf of the returning Scouts.

The celebration has been sanctioned by the city officials who are co-operating with the Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion in making the affair a success. is not definitely known owing to disrupted communications. Reports state that between 12 and 25 are dead and scores wounded.

Without Warning. The Arabs attacked Safed without warning, murdered and pillaged and then set the town ablaze. Virtually every building with the exception of the government offices, was razed. Although British troops routed a large force of Bedouins advancing on Ramleh from the border, the danger of a general Moslem attack on Jerusalem has not yet passed, according to indications today.

The national council is openly fearful that any hour may see a general invasion of fierce Moslem hordes across the borders from Syria and Trans-Jordan, as well as from outlying districts of Palestine.

No further news has been received of the party of 14 young American students, cycling to Syria, who are reported to be in peril on the Palestine-Syrian frontier.

Extreme Tension. It is feared they are surrounded by hostile Arab tribes. British troops have been rushed to the spot to convey them back to Jerusalem in safety. All of upper Galilee is in a state of extreme tension as a result of the attack upon Safed.

Strong reinforcements of British troops are being rushed to Tiberias and other towns nearby to repel any further attacks, and all Arabs showing recalcitrant attitudes are taken prisoner.

NEW CASTLE MAN GETS LETTER WHICH TOURED WORLD ON ZEPPELIN

"PAR AVION" were typed on the envelope. In French this means "By Air." Before the trip had ended, the official stamp of the Graf had been imprinted on it, showing the cities the airship had visited.

No mistake could have been made by postal officials as to the address of the letter. Here is how Metz put it: From P. A. Metz, R. D. 8, New Castle, Pa. U. S. A.

By German Airship LZ 127 From Lakehurst to Lakehurst.

To Francis M. Adams, 424 Hillcrest Ave., New Castle, Pa., U. S. A.

Apparently the letter, was postmarked at Lakehurst again some two hours after landing, for it bore on the opposite side, "Arrived Lakehurst Aug. 25, 9:30 a. m." The ship landed at 7:52 a. m. that day. Immediately upon arrival there it was hurried to the local address.

Postage contained on the envelope amounted to $3.35, three stamps, one fifty-cent stamp and one five-cent sticker.

Adams said today that he plans to have the envelope placed in a frame for better keeping, and may have it displayed in some downtown store window.

It is interesting to note that such a message, mailed 25 days before, will return to the destination from whence it started after a trip which encircled the globe, so soon after. Adams is sold on "Air Mail" both transcontinental and transoceanic.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Myra Porter.

Mrs. Myra Porter, aged 78 years, widow of Ambrose Porter, passed away at her late residence in Hillsville Friday morning at 10:55 after an illness of four months due to the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Porter was born in Hillsville, February 5, 1851, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ferrell, pioneer residents of that community. She had spent her entire life in that vicinity and was well known and highly respected. She was a member of the Hillsville Baptist church.

She leaves two sons, G. S. Porter and G. C. Porter both of Hillsville. Her husband preceded her in death nine years ago. Mrs. Porter also leaves ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday, September 1, at 2:30 p. m., from her late home in charge of Rev. L. L. Woodin. Burial will be made in the Hillsville Baptist cemetery.

Miss White Buried. Funeral services for the late Miss Margaret Almira White of North Beaver township took place from the Peche United Presbyterian church Friday afternoon at two o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. George Neill, officiating.

The services were largely attended. Burial was made in the church cemetery and the pallbearers were John Norwood, William Ramey, William Derringer, Ralph White, D. H. Cunningham and Roy Hoffmeister.

home; and that as the truck was about even with the gate the boy ran out and into the left front fender of his car. He stopped within three feet and got out, finding that the wheels had not run over the boy. He picked him up and took him to Mrs. Nick Russo's home nearby, laid him on a couch, tried for several doctors and finally secured Dr. Prioletti, who examined the boy and said he must get him to the hospital, which he did in the doctor's car, a woman accompanying the doctor and boy. He followed to the hospital, then went home, forgetting to make a report, but did report the next morning. His father, Carmine Glorioso, was with him.

The father was called and corroborated the testimony of his son, adding nothing to the testimony. Mrs. Nick Russo was called and stated she had not seen the boy until after he had been struck, and how he had been carried into her home and a doctor called. Robert Dukes, city police officer, told of being called to the New Castle hospital on the case and that Dr. Prioletti had told him the boy had been fatally injured by his lung being punctured by a part of his broken collar bone. He had called Glorioso in regard to making a report.

THE SPIRIT OF LABOR

IT SEEMS especially appropriate that Labor Day should be made a holiday, given over largely to health-building diversion as a means of relaxation from the daily toil of those in whose honor the day is set aside, and it is very proper that everyone should get all the healthful fun and exercise he can get out of it.

Such diversions detract nothing from the purpose of the holiday which, primarily, of course, was established as an occasion justly to pay honor to the Spirit of Labor which cannot be too highly exalted.

Nothing is wealth until it receives the magic touch of Human Labor. Labor alone can bring bread from a handful of seed. From the soil also come brick, wood, concrete and steel, products of labor. And even these articles are of little use or value until labor combine them into buildings or other utilities.

Even the diamond is unattractive and luxuries are the fruit of Human Labor. Carpets, furniture, houses, autos, radio, food—so on into thousands upon thousands of commodities—all these are labor's creations.

There is no wealth, no usefulness, no worth-while achievement except by toil.

Labor is the force that creates civilization from the dust.

It is well that one day of the year is set aside as Labor Day. On this day the whole nation pays tribute to its greatest force, its greatest natural resource, without which we would be no better off than the monkeys.

Hats off to labor—skilled, unskilled, brawn or brain.

NEW TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Motor buses properly and considerably operated are an important public convenience, and there is justification for allowing them to use the public highways under necessary supervision. When allowed such franchises, however, they should be bound by the conditions of the road and the rules that apply to other vehicles, and the growing practice of endangering other motorists and their own passengers in the order to "make time" should be stamped out.

Bus operators, faced with the necessity of maintaining fast time schedules, often have an incentive to abuse the privileges of the road and endanger life and property. Nothing will be gained by penalizing them for recklessness if their employers penalize them for failure to maintain their schedules.

In a number of states the highway administrations, police and public service commissions have warned bus companies that their machines must stay within the law or lose their licenses. The next thing to do is to make these warnings really mean something.

Arbitrary and unreasonable regulations, however, will do more harm than good. To reduce the bus speed to a point less than the maximum at which buses can travel with comparative safety is to encourage violation of the rules. And to expect bus operators to be infallible is asking the impossible.

REDUCING THE NUMBER OF FOREST FIRES

It is gratifying to note that there was a reduction of the losses caused by forest fires in this country last year. Here is proof that organized protection of the forests is beginning to reveal its value. Yet, in spite of the good showing, there were more fires than we should have had. The Forest Service connected with the Department of Agriculture reports that there were 177,382 in the United States during 1928. Careless smokers were held responsible for the largest number. The other chief causes were incendiary, brush burning, lightning, camp fires and railroads.

But it is cheering to know that the policy of guarding the forests is worth more than it costs. The government and the states, by wise laws and careful management, are helping the general cause of forestry. When it is considered that it has not been much more than thirty years since the attempt to save the forests was begun, the results must be regarded as satisfactory. At the outset the creation of great national forests met with considerable opposition, particularly in the West. Now it is conceded that the movement was not only desirable but necessary. The states have joined in the movement heartily and are giving practical evidences of the value of systematic conservation of such resources. Last year the Pennsylvania legislature appropriated a considerable sum for the purchase of new lumber land. While it was not all that was asked, it is a move in the right direction.

Every acre of additional land set aside for this purpose is in the interest of the people. We need still more protected forest land; and by the same token it must be guarded against fire.

Almost every country is a free country for the discreet orthodox.

Around the world in eighty days was Jules Verne's dream of what might be.

Around the world in 21 days is the accomplishment of Dr. Eckener and German engineering skill.

The exact flying time of the Hearst-Zeppelin cruiser around the world is 12 days, eight minutes.

To mention those figures in scientific achievement is like mentioning ten billion dollars in Wall Street. No need to enlarge on the figures.

PHILIP SNOWDEN, British chancellor of the exchequer in the Labor government, sets an example to other husbands that many will not follow. He won his fight for what is considered financial justice to England, making his dear allies give to Britain millions of German reparations that those allies expected to keep for themselves.

Snowden telephoned to a London newspaper: "If England's pleased, so am I. Without the help of my wife I could never have achieved it."

One hundred and seventy-five thousand Americans saw little Gloria Matthews, aged 3, of Lakewood, N. J., with the crown as Queen of American Babies at Asbury Park.

But remember, that the baby lacking the curliest hair, pinkest cheeks, bluest little legs, may be later on a champion human being, in spite of missing the champion baby championship.

Voltaire was a sickly baby with fits. Pope, the poet, had to be sewn up in a stiff canvas jacket each morning that he might sit up and write.

Byron had a club foot. Napoleon had epileptic fits.

It's the brain that counts, and often a child with a highly developed brain drawing the blood away from the rest of the body, makes a poor showing at first, but lives to rule all the championship babies.

Cyrus H. K. Curtis sends you the information carefully copyrighted, that one big British prison is sold to be used for other purposes. Twenty-three other prisons are closed, crime is decreasing.

The interesting thing is that they haven't got prohibition in Britain.

Britain's average daily prison population, which was 20,000 in 1904, is now only 11,000, and "there is also a remarkable drop in convictions for drunkenness." How do the British do it?

National prohibition authorities tell New York police to close speakeasies, saying "It is the business of the police to suppress nuisances."

Commissioner Whalen of New York's police says it is the National Government's business to compel obedience to the Constitution of the United States.

Meanwhile there are, according to police testimony, 32,000 speakeasies running night and day. That is not what was expected of prohibition.

Leut. Bolster seems to be a young American at home in the air. It was something new in the world of flying when he stepped from the dirigible Los Angeles on to a flying airplane, above the Cleveland airport, with 100,000 watching.

More important to flying was the demonstration of the brilliant Spanish professor, Juan de la Cueva, He landed his "autogiro" gently, easily and safely on a twenty-foot circle in the center of the field.

To control landing speed, making dangerously high speed and enormous landing fields unnecessary, is to improve aviation.

More mergers, with business always bigger. The Peoples Savings & Trust Co., united with the Pittsburgh Trust Co., as the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Co., creating an $80,000,000 concern.

Children seeing a skyrocket going up, up, up, wonder when it will stop and come down.

Children of Wall Street, looking at prices sailing upwards, as children look at sky rockets, wonder when prices will start coming down.

"What will signalize a decline?" Wall Street asks, meaning, how shall we be able to know when the rocket turns and starts definitely downward?

Wall Street's children never can know, for sure, Rockets starting from earth have a definite supply of powder pushing, and can go only so far.

Wall Street starts skyrocketing, ammunition is added to the upward flight every little while, big crops, greater, cheaper quantity production, and the rocket goes higher.

The best plan is to buy what you can pay for, don't gamble, keep your head out of reach of the stick when it comes down.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight: 6:34. Sun rises tomorrow: 5:27.

Mayor Kline of Pittsburgh is trying to re-select himself to his present job. He says he will not discuss matters with any of his opponents. Now if he can get the opponents to discuss him he may be happy and contented. And maybe even elected.

A woman member of congress said a tariff hearing in Washington that silk is no longer the exclusive fabric of the rich woman. Working women use it extensively. She said it, and working women use it exclusively and we cannot blame any women for wanting silk things. We think every woman should wear nothing else.

THEY CALL IT GOD
A fireman and a planet.
A crystal and a cell.
A jelly-fish and a saurian.
And a cave where the cavemen dwell.
Then a sense of law and beauty.
A face turned up from the sod.
Some call it Evolution.
And others call it God.

A haze on far horizon—
The infinite tender sky.
The rich ripe tint of cornfields.
And the wild geese sailing high.
And all over upland and lowland.
The charm of the goldenrod.
Some of us call it Autumn.
And others call it God.

Like lides on a crescent seabeach.
When the moon is new and thin.
To the lonely heart strange longings.
Come dwelling and surging in.
Come from the mystic ocean.
Whose rim no foot has trod.
Some of us call it Yearning.
And others call it God.

A picket on on duty.
A mother striving for her brood.
Socrates drinking the hemlock.
And Jesus on the road;
And millions, nameless and homeless.
The straight and hard pathway trod.
Some call it consecration.
And others call it God.

Very often when a man is not able to fight his own battles in life and make good, he may have some help from his friends and then again if he does not have many friends he can always depend upon an outstanding and commanding wife, which a lot of weak mollycoddles seem to be able to connect up with in a matrimonial way.

It was at a New York mission and the social worker was talking to a tramp from the west who had just been converted.

"I suppose," said the uplifter, "that many dear to you are anxiously awaiting your return? Many whose hearts will beat faster and whose faces will brighten with joy at your home coming. Is that not true, my good man?"

"Wal," replied the human derelict, "I reckon the sheriffs of Deadwood and Red Gulch might kinda like to see me."

We heard of an alleged political leader in this county going to a candidate for a county office and telling that candidate if they would put the daughter of one of the politicians ten dollar patriots into the office, the politician would root for that particular candidate. That is the kind of rot the decent people of Lawrence county have been standing for from some bums who go down to Harrisburg and tell the governor they control Lawrence county. If you are not their candidate they and about all the county committee are against you.

Partners
"Yes, me and Bill are in partnership in this selling game, but we don't carry the same goods."
"Explain yourself."

Diplomatic Row Over Servants Discussed With Mock Gravity

Some Newspaper Observers Think Peruvian Counselor Who Resigned After Mrs. Poindexter's Complaint Has Launched A Career

Newspaper comment in this country on the diplomatic episode involving the resignation of Senator Alfredo Gonzales Prada, who quit his post as Counselor and Charge d'Affaires of the Peruvian Embassy at Washington, after Mrs. Miles Poindexter, wife of the former United States Ambassador to Peru, had made a row about the diplomat's taking over of two servants she had brought from Peru, is a notion novel to the Anglo-Saxon mind. The Eagle holds that "the man servant, so far as we can see, under American law is free to get a job where he can."

"Acquiring one another's servants," concludes the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, "is a great American household game, requiring no little finesse and often immeasurable patience. It is a game confined to no particular class and one in which every American woman at some time in her life has lost. Senator Gonzales Prada may not have been able to estimate the American value of a servant, but he certainly has shown he possesses rudimentary knowledge of 'below-stairs' intrigue."

Referring to the fact that Mrs. Poindexter appealed to the President of the South American republic for assistance, the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS declares: "Not till now has the head of a state been asked to preserve the unbroken relation between a family and those who serve it—to preserve it at least against the assault of a representative in America of the government over which he presides. GENERAL SUMMERALL REACHES SCRANTON (International News Service) SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—Following their business session this morning, at which delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, were to elect a department commander to succeed Charles E. Gebert of Tamaqua, the big feature of the convention, the annual parade of the Legionnaires takes place at 2 p. m.

The streets of Scranton were thronged at an early hour by the vanguard of thousands of people who will watch the olive drab hosts swing in review through the city. Thirty-six divisions, comprising 25,000 men and headed by former Lieutenant Governor David J. Davis, of Scranton, as grand marshal, were to pass before the critical eyes of General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army.

General Summerall arrived this morning with a military escort. Lieutenant Governor Arthur James also appeared early and was the recipient of a warm greeting. General Summerall and Lieutenant Governor James will speak before the convention assembly today.

Results of the Legion auxiliary election held last night will not be reported until later. Mrs. Frank B. Joseph of Williamsport, and Mrs. Joseph Thompson of Johnstown, were opposing candidates for the presidency of the auxiliary. There was no opposition for other auxiliary office candidates.

Six Arrested In Liquor Raids At Suburban Towns

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—Liquor raids staged in Acemtonia, Homestead and Pittsburgh, yesterday, yielded large quantities of intoxicating beverages and resulted in the arrest of six persons, it was learned today. The raids were made by constables and dry agents.

Ninety-six pints of beer were seized in a dwelling at 518 1/2 fourth avenue, Homestead, where John Dobos was arrested. A residence at 518 Fourth avenue, Homestead, yielded 36 quarts of moonshine, the report said. Agents arrested Mrs. Joseph Frank.

Other places raided, prisoners and seizures were:

- Building in Acemtonia; Mary Brousch; pint of ale.
- Residence in Pittsburgh; John Phillips and Mary Phillips; 12 quarts of beer.
- Saloon in Pittsburgh, Charles Up-hoff; assortment of gin, whiskey and beer.

McCleary Children Have Last Outing

Picnic In Wooded Spot Near Harbor Street On Friday Afternoon

Children of the McCleary playground held their annual picnic in the woods adjacent Harbor street Friday. In the afternoon a pet show was held at the playground. Pets of all descriptions were entered in the contest. Late in the day the children carried out their picnic plans and supplemented their lunches with roast corn and weiners. At dusk they gathered about a fire and sang, played games and told stories.

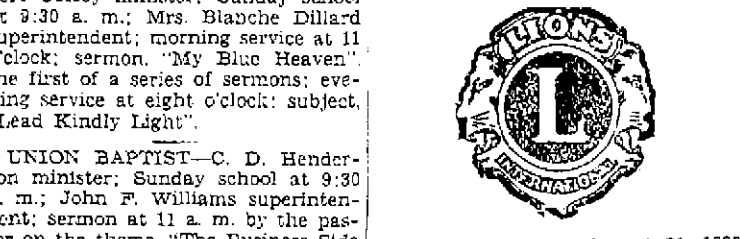

Prizes awarded for the best pets were as follows: first, Catherine Lewis; dog; second, Elizabeth Lewis, rabbit; third, Fred Pennington, cat. The following were given honorable mention: Augusta Hitch, rabbit; George Fahl, dog; Richard Richard Braatz, cat.

The program for the day was supervised by Miss Pearl McClure, the instructor in charge.

French Cabinet Approves Stand Made By Briand

Hague Conference Stand By Premier Briand Is Approved At Cabinet Session

(International News Service) PARIS, Aug. 31.—Premier Aristide Briand's policy in the Hague reparations conference and the commitments he made there were unanimously approved by the French Cabinet today.

The cabinet held a special meeting to receive a report from the premier upon the results of the conference and the agreements made there concerning redistribution of German reparations and evacuation of the Rhineland.

President Doumergue, of France, presided.

The TOWN DOCTOR

(The Doctor of Towns)

Says:

WHY DOES A MULE STICK HIS HEAD THROUGH A FENCE?

You have seen many a mule reaching for grass on the other side of the fence. He gets his ears stuck, his neck scratched and his throat cut up, when there is just as much, just as green, and just as high and luxuriant grass right under his very nose. Did it ever occur to you to ask the question why he does that? There is a reason—it's because he's a mule.

The same logic and reasoning applies to people in many communities who insist on buying their needs in some other town, from peddlers, or from mail order houses.

Now, do not misunderstand—this is written with only the intent of placing blame where blame is due. Not now, nor at any other time, does this writer overlook your side of the question.

There are many merchants who do not deserve your consideration—but which ones do and which ones do not? There's no law of statute or reason that even implies that you should buy anything from any merchant, if that merchant is so behind the times, or is of a disposition that he does not tell you what he has to offer and how, invite you to buy it and give you a "reason why" you should buy it from him, in preference to anyone else, whether that anyone else be local, in some other town, a mail order house, or a peddler.

The only way for you to be sure of those who are deserving is to give your local merchants a chance to serve you. Then, if they do not do their part, that's different.

A merchant that does not go out of his way to get what you think you want; that does not arrange his store and his stock, train his help and create an atmosphere to please; the merchant that does not sell you the way you want to be sold, who continually cries about business and still does nothing to please, satisfy and serve you, when he has the chance—that merchant is not deserving.

You make your own money—it is yours, and you have a right to spend it where you please, with whom you please and for what you please, but stop and consider your condition, if the community was taken away from you. The community can get along without you, but if the community was completely taken away from the source of your income, then what?

It is a business proposition. Every time you buy something for the same or more money, quality considered, from anyone or any place other than from your own community, it is costing you money.

Everybody laughs at a mule. So "Try The Home Folks First."

DAWDLER CONDUCTS PETER ON A TOUR

"I have a suggestion to make to you, boy," suddenly remarked Dawdler to Peter. "And if I know a good sport when I see one, I think the suggestion is one which will appeal to you."

"I'll bet it will, too," cried Peter. "Come on, Dawdler, out with it!"

"I am going to take you on a round of visits," continued Dawdler. "The queen is so grateful to you for all the help you have given us that she has asked me to pilot you around to meet all our family connections, seeing that you seem so interested in the bees."

"Indeed I am," declared Peter. "Who are your family connections and where do they live?"

"Oh, all around here, in the woods and in the fields. We want to find out just where they do live, in fact, and pay our respects to them. So now you are starting out on a personally conducted tour and you'll have to hop on my back and travel in that manner."

"Jolly!" cried Peter, suiting his action to the command.

"First, I think we'll hunt up Mrs. Humble Bee and her family," said Dawdler.

"Humble Bee! You mean Bumble Bee, don't you?" laughed Peter. "I'd like to see them. I used to think all bees were bumble bees."

"Well, we shall visit the Bumbles, too; but the Humble Bee family is still another very respectable family. We must look for them along the ground."

"Oh, that's why they're called humble. I suppose they're too humble to build high."

By this time they were deep in the grove beyond Bee Village, and Dawdler swooped low, allowing his rider to alight, for here they could proceed claw in hand.

"Good morning, sir," suddenly called Dawdler, before Peter was aware of any one near to greet.

"Good morning to you, sir. You are strangers in these parts. If I'm not mistaken," spoke another voice. And then Peter saw coming toward them across the roof of a tree a bee carrying a bright colored scrap of something in his hands.

"This is Mr. Upholsterer Bee. I take it?" said Dawdler.

"Right you are!" replied the other.

Highway Department Answers More Queries

FOR OWNERS AND DRIVERS

Hundreds of queries are received daily by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles at the Department of Transportation. In the belief that the questions and their answers will be of help to many motorists, the Bureau has decided to publish a number of them in this newspaper each week. The information herein contained is, of course, official.

Q. At a protected intersection I was making a left hand turn and following the provisions of the motor code, I bore to the left of the center. The policeman on duty minded no words and informed me that I was a jay walker. He directed me to go to the right of the center of the intersection. I refused, however, and continued as I had started. Have cities and towns authority to change provisions of the motor code?

A. Section 1011 of the motor code directs that vehicles pass to the left of the center of an intersection. Section 1103 provides that local authorities shall have no power to enact or enforce any ordinance, rule or regulation contrary to the vehicle code. Local authorities may place traffic officers or traffic signals where traffic is heavy or continuous, and they may regulate or prohibit parking, stopping or loading of motor vehicles, or prohibit other than one-way traffic upon certain highways, and may regulate the use of the highways by processions or assemblages, and may regulate the kinds and classes of traffic and its turning on certain highways at all or certain hours, and may regulate the transportation by motor vehicles of passengers for compensation within the city limits, or from points in the city to points beyond the city limits, and make and enforce regulations for the operation of such vehicles.

Q. I had a narrow escape from hitting a horse and wagon on a through highway. The driver of the horse, when I remonstrated with him for entering the through highway without stopping, declared the motor code does not govern horse-drawn vehicles. Was he right?

A. It is provided in section 1016 of the motor code that the driver or operator of any vehicle, street car, or trackless trolley omnibus must come to a full stop before entering the intersection of a through highway and hicles not inconsistent with this act, and designate certain streets upon which such vehicles may be operated.

Q. When no "stop" sign has been placed on a side street at its juncture with an important street, is it necessary for the driver coming from the side street to stop? (b) Who is to blame if the car on the main street strikes the car coming from the side? (c) Explain what the motor code means by directing a driver to signal with his left hand.

A. Except on through highways, has right-of-way. This of course does not apply where traffic is controlled by an officer or signal. A cautious driver entering a main highway or street from a side street will have his car under perfect control whether there is a "stop" sign or not. (b) The foregoing answer covers this point. (c) Section 1012 of the motor code requires that when a vehicle is about to start, stop or turn, a signal shall be given by the hand or a mechanical device. If a hand signal is given, the hand and arm must be extended beyond the left side of the vehicle, so that it may be seen from the rear; or if the operator is driving a closed car, he must signal in such manner that his hand will be visible through the window in the rear.

Q. What is the length of the compulsory motor vehicle inspection period which begins October 1?

A. It continues until November 15.

Q. What state has no speed limit?

A. Michigan.

Q. Is there any provision in the motor code limiting the speed of automobiles near school houses?

A. No motor vehicle may travel more than 15 miles per hour when passing a school building during recess or while children are going to or leaving school during opening and closing hours.

Q. I broke a spring on my car the other day when I ran into an opening five inches deep in the asphalt, left by the street repair crew. To whom shall I look for a new spring?

A. You had better consult an attorney. Doubtless the ordinances of your city require that advance warning be given of a cut in the pavement.

a side street. A wagon drawn by a horse is a vehicle.

Q. On the William Penn highway a person riding with me had her face badly scratched when a boy standing on the road tossed an advertising booklet into the car. Is this practice permitted?

A. Section 1023 of the motor code provides that no person may throw a missile, circular or pamphlet at the applicants of a motor vehicle. This section was added to correct conditions of the kind you mention.

Q. On a road in Somerset county the driver of a young and skittish horse held up his hand as I approached, motioning for me to stop. I did not stop until I was some distance beyond the nervous horse. The farmer then told me that the law provides that an operator of a motor vehicle stop when signaled by the driver of a horse-drawn vehicle. I am unable to find anything of this sort in the motor code.

A. The provision mentioned was part of the motor laws of Pennsylvania for at least 20 years. It was introduced when motor cars were scarce and horses were not familiar with automobiles. It was omitted from the motor vehicle code by the 1929 legislature. Despite this fact it would seem to be desirable that automobile drivers be courteous when called upon to pass a frightened horse.

Q. Is there a law requiring that automobiles stop at railway crossings whether a train is coming or not?

A. Section 1027 of the motor code provides that all motor omnibuses engaged in the transportation of passengers, and all motor vehicles used in transportation of school children, and vehicles transporting explosives shall come to a complete stop immediately before crossing a railroad crossing.

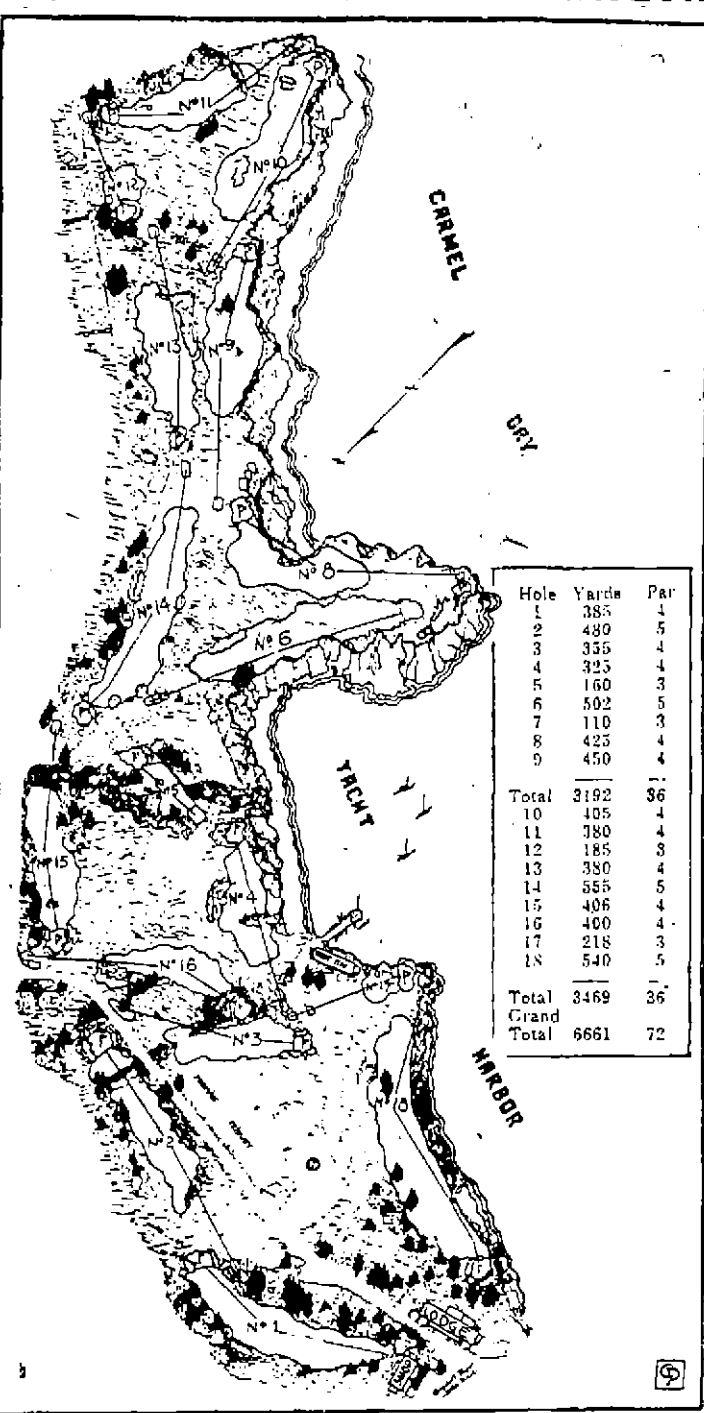

Q. If, as suggested by the commissioner of motor vehicles, school authorities erect tall iron fences or cable railings along the curb line, for the entire distance of a public school property, how will pupils arriving in automobiles pass through or over the fences?

A. They won't. It will probably occur to the automobile driver that he (or she) stop the car before reaching the guard fence, or after passing it. The borough of Ebensburg, Cambria county, has erected such a fence and it has proved of great benefit in preventing pupils, as it does most effectively, from rushing into the carway upon their release from school. In addition, the very presence of such a fence is a continual warning to children that they must be cautious.

Q. I broke a spring on my car the other day when I ran into an opening five inches deep in the asphalt, left by the street repair crew. To whom shall I look for a new spring?

A. You had better consult an attorney. Doubtless the ordinances of your city require that advance warning be given of a cut in the pavement.

Thirteen States Require License For Auto Drivers

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—Pennsylvania is one of the 13 states having driver's license laws requiring examination of applicants according to a statement made public today by the American Automobile Association.

The national motoring organization which has consistently advocated the nation-wide adoption of driver's license laws as a means of curbing the great number of deaths and injuries on the streets and highways, points out that the experience of the states having such laws "no longer leaves a debatable point as to the wisdom of such a program."

The other states requiring examination of all drivers before issuing licenses are Arizona, California, Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont.

"While it is true that the toll of deaths and injuries still remains a challenge to the nation as one of the most serious problems of the day," Thomas P. Henry, president of the A. A. A., says, "it is also true that the licensing of drivers has proven one of the most effective means yet advanced as a remedy."

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

INMATES
A middle western state reports over 30,000 persons in state institutions. That's probably a fair average for a large number of states. Ten thousand and more are in prisons and the rest in hospitals, feeble-minded institutions, schools for defectives and so on. Recent statistics say two million persons in America are so mentally defective they need institutional care. There are thousands more who never find their way into institutions but should. The manner of life that we roughly describe as civilization demands a heavy price.

TROLLEYS
The thrill of his first trolley ride remains with the writer even today. American cities push street car lines further back. Manchester, one of the great cities of England, may scrap its car lines. In prehistoric days the ages of man passed slowly. Century followed century with little change. Now we pass from one age to the next in generation, sometimes almost in a decade. Street cars go the way of grandfather's buggy.

PALESTINE
The upbuilding of Palestine is one of the most interesting undertakings in history. The Palestine Economic corporation is established on a sound American business basis. Already there are two subscriptions of a half million dollars each from Felix Warburg and Lord Melchett. This Jewish enterprise may prove one of the major developments of modern times.

NEW BORDER OR NO BORDERS

War can establish lines it cannot hold them. Common interest, especially common ideals and enthusiasms, runs over borders or makes new ones. German communists present the commander-in-chief of the Russian army with a saber. And nothing pushes down international walls faster than fanaticism.

AS TO MILK

History is sometimes debunked. Our fondest beliefs and traditions are sometimes proved false by the cold light of investigation and analysis. So with our opinions about some other things. Who has not been taught to believe that milk is the one perfect food? Comes now a chemist of note, Dr. W. E. Krauss, who says there is no iron in milk. Animals given milk exclusively have anemia.

More and more one is forced to the conclusion that the only way to be well is to eat everything that is edible. But remember that the stomach is a small organ.

Lathaw was walking the train and in moving over a gondola car, an end plate fell upon and crushed his foot. The injury is not serious.

Labor Day Brings Inspiration For Tribute To Workers-Secy. Davis

By JAMES J. DAVIS,
Secretary of Labor.
(Written Expressly for International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—More than 40 years ago the people of America decreed, by law, the setting aside of Labor Day as a mark of honor and respect for the country's workers; and with the passing of each first Monday in September, we feel more and more the inspiration and satisfaction which comes from paying deserved tribute to those whose heads and hands have wrought such enduring progress in national production and wealth.

Today, the forty-five million rainfully employed people are the greatest purchasers of the products of our industrial enterprises. When the pay envelope comes and means a living for the wage earner and his family, but a surplus with which he may purchase some of the luxuries of his desire, our country at large is the beneficiary.

This principle of liberal pay is a boon to labor, industry and business; it is the creator of markets, whose goods, in turn, create new demands for men and their labor.

Good Will Wins.
Good will and understanding between employers and workers have completely supplanted the exploitation which labor suffered in centuries gone by. The two principal factors of production are today working hand in hand with mutual regard and the will faithfully to serve the demands of our population. We have come to realize that our gainfully employed people do, in fact, constitute the bulk of our whole nation, in deep they and their dependents are the largest buyers of our products. Consequently, their interests are among the first which we should consider in any national endeavor in which we may engage. There can be no lasting prosperity which does not include those who labor, and today, more than ever before, we have just cause to rejoice that this principle is becoming a fixed policy which is bringing peace and contentment in its wake.

I do not mean to infer that there is naught which needs improvement in the world of labor, industry and business; for some of our blessings have brought with them their normal proportion of difficulties. Among such I may cite the machine, which, while reducing the hazards of employment and adding to speed in production, oftentimes displaces in large groups some of our most capable hand-workers, who are unprepared at the time to seek new vocations.

Production Methods.
It would seem also that modern methods of production have caused some employers to believe that youth rather than the experience and age of seasoned workers, best serves the needs of production. Consequently at inopportune times, there have been discharged at middle-age many veteran workers of ability, experience and settled habits, who thus face the necessity of an upward adjustment at the age of 45 to 50 years. Of late, some progress has been made in offsetting this false theory and I shall continue to make every opportunity to emphasize the importance of retaining in employment those who have demonstrated through a long work period that they are entitled to the fullest employment consideration.

Unemployment is consequently ever present because of these and other causes which are constantly recurring, and it is to these problems that we must apply our very best thought and attention if we would see no break in the tremendous progress of industry or in our great national end of tolerance toward all before future Labor Days shall have passed from us. I look for our best thought and intelligence to lessen these common ills. Our spirit of democracy and the pledges of our Christian civilization make it certain that no enduring problems of these types can remain with us.

And so it is a great national privilege for all of America to join today in Labor's holiday.

District Labor Day Rally Of Alliance Church

Young People Of Western Pennsylvania To Be In Session
Here On Monday

Full details have been completed for the Labor Day Rally which will be held Monday, September 2 by the Young People's Association of the Christian and Missionary Alliance of the Western Pennsylvania district, which will be held in the Epworth Methodist church of this city.

A large representative of young people from the district is expected to attend. The Pittsburgh district will be especially well represented. The morning session will open with a praise and prayer service in charge of Rev. T. J. Keegan of Ellwood City. The message of the morning will be given by Rev. W. W. Davis of Ambridge, Pa.

The afternoon session beginning at 2 o'clock will be featured by a missionary message by Rev. Charles P. Stamm, returned missionary from French West Africa. A message in song will be given by the Marion Hill Branch. Rev. B. Bryan Musselman will deliver the sermon of the evening.

Wailing Wall, Center Of Riots In Jerusalem, Is Jewel Of Antiquity

The Wailing Wall, storm center of current riots in Jerusalem. By Central Press. JERUSALEM, Palestine, Aug. 31.—Riots at the Wailing Wall in this ancient city, objective of so many religious pilgrimages, both peaceful and bloody, have furnished the British with one of their knottiest problems.

Following the World War, when Palestine no longer lay under the rule of the Turks, the British assumed a protectorate.

And if ever true diplomat were needed anywhere, it is here—with three religious groups claiming the holy places as their own. There are Arabs, the Christians and the Orthodox Jews. The Jews have been largely augmented in recent years by immigration under the Zionist movement.

It was therefore with concern that official permission was given to the Moslem supreme council to begin building operations near the Wailing Wall, the last remaining fragment of Solomon's temple built 3,000 years ago. Close by is the Mosque of Omar.

Wall, Mosque Sacred.

To the Jews the wall is sacred; to the Moslem, the Mosque. Each is a symbol to be respected and fought for.

At the wall Orthodox Jews chant prayers, and weep or wait over the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the Temple more than 1,800 years ago. Thence onward, the Jews ceased to be a people with a homeland.

This year when the Jews made their annual mass pilgrimage to the temple site to receive the lamentations of Jeremiah, Arabs appeared shouting and carrying banners. They seriously injured the beadle in charge of prayers and destroyed sacred objects.

Daily the mobs increased, with fighting on both sides.

The Arabs carried daggers and were too much for the small British police force.

Arabs Own Wall Land.

The center of the controversy—the wall—actually is upon lands owned by Arabs. They say the Jews have a right to worship there, but declare screens which the Jews use to separate the sexes, block the right of way.

The wall, of magnificent Jewish architecture is intact 40 feet above the ground and goes to a depth of 60 to 65 feet. The lower blocks of masonry are thought to have been part of the Temple of Herod. Here as many American tourists have observed Orthodox Jewish pilgrims gather three days a week to pray and mourn.

While the Arabs who oppose a British protectorate, are in virtual arms against the British as well as the Jews, who they say are in league the Jews likewise have protested that the British not only fail to protect them but have permitted desecration of a holy place. British term is a political Moslem-Communist uprising.

Thus the British find the protectorate anything but a pleasant affair.

ABE MARTIN On Sunday Autoin'

TIMELY WARNIN'

No family should climb in a car an' start off on a Sunday trip till they're through fightin' an' wranglin' an' arguin'. Whoever drives the car should wear ear muffs an' keep out o' the conversation. It's all right to nudge a driver occasionally an' call his attention to danger signs, an' approachin' load o' hay, a freight train crossin' the high-way, or to remind him that he's on the wrong side o' the road, or is passin' through a town, but never hand him an apple to eat. If drivers haint' alert an' snappy they become absorbed in thought, let their minds wander, especially on long stretches of nice, smooth pavement, jest the same as we sometimes git to thinkin' about somethin' while walkin' an' run into somethin' or somebody, or pass the store where we intended to stop. Never call a driver's attention to an extra fine litter o' pigs, or to anything you've already passed. An auto driver has ten times as much responsibility as a locomotive engineer, or a motorman who is operatin' on a steel track, runnin' on a schedule, an' on his own protected

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—After storm center, centering on 28, has passed your vicinity, temperatures will be expected to move to lower averages and precipitation increase over the continent in general. This increase in precipitation will be welcome in corn belt, especially the western part, and in cotton belt western dry area, providing that it does not last too long a period.

September Cropweather Features. Cool period forecasted to start near August 29 will be expected to continue to near September 10; period between above dates will average below normal temperatures for the continent; lowest temperatures of this period, expected to be a northern cold wave, will cover on September 5; from 11 to 25 expected to average above normal temperatures; last five days of month to average below normal temperatures. Most severe storm force and greatest amount of precipitation this month expected in eastern half of continent. For the continent for to be instrumental in causing such floods.

In the near future, Russia may again become an exporter of farm products, as order takes place of present chaos and machinery takes place of hand labor; Canada, Australia and Argentina continue their increase of grain acreage; The U. S. Farm Relief Board should consider these facts when formulating their advice for the future. They should also consider that the U. S. has her uncomfortable surplus of bread grains in the show window while Canada's huge 1928 surplus is being eaten by Europe and other importing countries. Canadian Pool methods and intellect are worth more than a second thought.

We recall, too, snow ice cream. It took a dishpan full of snow with a little milk, vanilla and sugar to make an average saucerful of the delectable confection. Somehow or other, though, we have an idea it really wasn't so good as it seemed then; we doubt whether it could be so good as it seemed to be then.

Making his own comment of the Cincinnati Enquirer's cute little observation that "Church pews never skid into a ditch." Topical postcards in to remark that nonetheless "they sometimes drift into a rut."

Citizenship Is Denied As Man Refuses Oath

Dr. Robert Clarke Refuses To Take Oath Of Allegiance And Is Denied Plea To Become Citizen

BEAVER FALLS, Aug. 31.—Dr. Robert Clarke, vice-president of Geneva College refused to take the oath of allegiance to the United States when he applied for final citizenship papers.

at Beaver before Judge William A. McConnell and Examiner John G. Davis of Boston in naturalization court. Clarke's objection is based on religious aversion to the swearing of an oath to support and defend the Constitution and he was not admitted to citizenship.

Clarke was born in Ireland, is fifty-two years old and wished to make a special affirmation to become a citizen. However Davis of the Naturalization department said that the regular oath was taken by Clarke. Davis said that he would enter a formal objection to his admission unless the regular form was sworn to by the applicant.

This schedule effects only September and is subject to change at any time. A complete schedule of physical activities at the New Castle Y. will be announced October 1, when gym classes start for the season.

Double Murder At Kansas City

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 31.—A double murder near Cliff Drive in Kansas City was revealed Friday when the bodies of a man and a woman were found in the woods adjoining the drive.

The man had been shot in the head. The woman had been hampered to death. The bodies were about a block apart.

The man was identified as Paul O'Dell, 18, employee of the Kansas City Southern railroad. At the morgue where the bodies were taken, it was said the woman's clothing had been partly torn off. Her head and face were so badly beaten identification was difficult. She was later identified as Ruth Laughlin, 24.

Physical Exams For Y. M. Boys

Must Be Taken Early In September; Classes Start Next Month

Beginning September 1, all boys expecting to attend Y. M. C. A. physical classes should go there to undergo the required physical examination given all boys before the season actually starts. No boy can enjoy the physical facilities offered there until he has done so, and is found to be in satisfactory health.

Not only are health inspections made to establish proof that a boy is physically sound but also inspections might be made from one year to the next. For instance, repeaters this year will soon learn whether or not they have improved or dropped some in the vital matter of health since last year.

First, the height of the boy is taken, then his weight. A strength test tells the instructor in charge what physical needs the boy has and he is assigned to recreation most beneficial to him. The chest expansion and measurement, lung pressure and heart reaction also are determined by the directors through the tests.

Boys are expected to undergo the tests just as soon as possible. Since the gym season is not more than four weeks away, it is necessary that this be completed at once.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—It's almost impossible to get a cup of good coffee in New York.

With the passing of the Waldorf and kindred places, and the continual springing up of the "coffee shops," or "shoppes," what passes for coffee would lead you to believe it had been brewed in the beet of an old boot aided by a passing shower.

Another attack on fundamentalist coffee is staged by a chain of "coffee houses" which try to make you forget their abominable concoction by surrounding you with such obvious atmosphere as that provided by waitresses masquerading as Spaniards and Italians.

The "Java" situation isn't remedied pretty soon, New York won't know any more about good coffee than it knows about good likker.

BEWARE

The board of health camped on the trail of beauty recently and unearthed a lot of scandalous doings. Five hundred of the city's 1,500 complexion coarsers were culled creaming their clients without a license. Nine varieties of lipstick selected at random from the 10 brands on sale were found to be poisonous and in some of the fanciful dyes they found the professors using lotions containing paraphenylenediamine. That is what the board of health called it, and when they say a thing like that it's always well not to argue with them.

There's no telling how much New York contributed to the country's beauty bill last year, amounting to $350,000,000, but you can rest assured it paid its ample share. The labor and money spent by women on beauty is a grand thing. I'm in favor of it; but what woman should learn is that the most valuable of beauty attainments cost absolutely nothing—that is, if you except energy, common sense and perseverance.

With daily exercise, proper posture, a sensible diet, adequate sleep, deep breathing, enough fresh air soap and water, and a sensible disposition, a perfect foundation is achieved. Little external aids to nature may be added; but they need a fine, strong body if they're going to make any kind of showing.

How much beauty is just sheer good health!

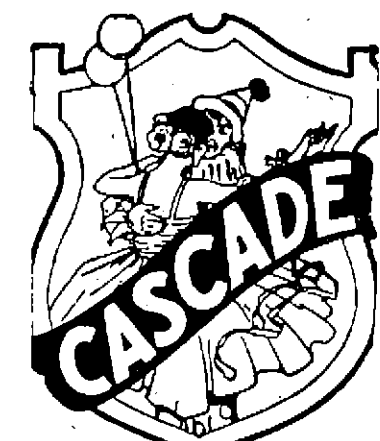

NO HELP FROM GROVER

New York lags far behind other big cities in the country in highway directional signs for motor tourists. Motorists from the outside driving into and through the city have nothing to guide them and the city's attitude, especially in official circles, seems to be one of indifference.

Asked to define his attitude in the matter, Grover Whalen, The-Prettiest-Police-Commissioner - New York-Ever-Had, spoke as follows:

"We need erect no signs to direct transient motorists to other cities. Why should we? They pay no taxes, make no contribution. Tax-paying New Yorkers come first. Our consideration just now is with them only."

A few weeks ago, in the back piazza of the Saturday Evening Post, in conjunction with some commercial publicity, appeared a page advertisement to the effect that "Mayor Walker Welcomes You to New York!" As they'd say on Broadway, "Walnen isn't a very good straight for Jimmy's comedy."

SURE IS TOUGH

Some New Yorkers departed on a special train from New York recently for an extended stay in the Federal Pen, at Atlanta. Several others may follow.

It's a tough thing, brethren, to be caught in broad daylight, in the middle of the turnpike, accompanied by an anonymous bankroll and no alibi!

An English observer says Americans are "noted for the eagerness with which they drink in a new country."

Herbert Tells About Scouts Tour Of London And Parts Of Europe

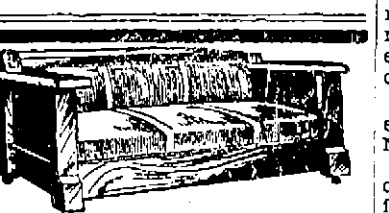

By EARLE K. HERBERT.
(Special News Correspondent with Scouts.)

As the Lawrence County Boy Scouts hurriedly prepared for their departure from the camp that they had so thoroughly enjoyed for two weeks, and which is now recorded in Scout history as the largest and finest meeting of boys that the world has ever witnessed, all were in high spirits. As they gathered around the exit from the park, all broke into that now famous "good-bye" song. Not long was the farewell meeting to be continued. Perhaps the boys would never meet again, but all will have a memory to retain and cherish those friendships.

As the bus started on its trip to London, the boys sang became deafening as they changed it into their own Camp John M. Phillips song. It was early in the day, affording the group the opportunity of many special items and views of interest along the way.

One of the important places visited was the Kenilworth Castle, the home of the great writer, Sir Walter Scott. The guide explained every part of the castle, making it very educational to the boys. From there the tour led past the Warwick Castle, home of the noted Socialist leader, Mrs. Warwick. However, not much time was spent at any one place until the group arrived at "Anne Hathaway's Cottage" where they were shown the entire cottage and each piece of furniture or article explained as to the part it played in those early days.

After visiting the cottage the Scouts were taken across the river Avon from whence Stratford-on-Avon derived its name. They were conducted immediately to the birthplace and home of William Shakespeare, the great writer of English literature and the husband of Anne Hathaway. The home is very attractively situated in a beautiful yard of flowers. The interior is very interesting in its quietude and the walls and rooms are filled with relics and manuscripts neatly arranged. They give voice to the prominent place that Shakespeare must have held as a citizen at that time.

It was late in the evening when the Scouts, tired and weary arrived in the largest city in the world. They were taken at once to the Abbotford hotel where they were able to wash up before partaking of their first meal in that city. They are a group of boys that adapt themselves to their surroundings very quickly which they did this night, with the idea of "seeing London."

During the evening the boys were arranged in groups of three or four so that in case any boys lost their way in the big city more than one would be able to give their knowledge of retracing their steps. In this manner all decided to see the sights as soon as dinner was over, depending on their own initiative to find the hotel again. This is where a joke takes place with one group of the boys. Nesbit, Offutt and Harper comprised one group, taking a course toward the center of London with the idea of returning in a short period. But firstly every corner looked the same, every building appeared as some just passed, directions were obscure and the hands of the clocks gradually turned toward 12 o'clock. The rule had been laid down by Mr. Calahan that all groups must be back at the hotel by 11. This group realizing the fact became frantic and as a final result from weariness and disgust hailed a taxi-cab directing the driver to their hotel. To their surprise the taxi just turned the next corner and landed them all safe and sound at the Abbotford.

However, it had very amusing results as did their hurried explanations as to the reasons for their tardiness. As the leaders noted the uneasiness and fear that they had just endured all was forgiven.

But the following day it was noted that no such catastrophe was to take place. The boys were formed again according to their groups in order that they might visit the British Museum. Nesbit had taken all precautions, purchased a box of chalk and as he arrived at the corners placed a large white arrow on the sidewalk indicating the way already traveled. It reminded one of olden days when pioneers blazed a trail through the forest. It also had the same helpfulness on this occasion.

Winters, Smith win high honors for entire trip. Deliver letter to the Lord Mayor of London.

The records were carefully checked over for the entire trip where it was found that George Winters and Arthur Smith had rated highest points during the trip. Although many others were high in their work it fell to Winters and Smith to have the honor of conveying the letter of Mayor of New Castle, Pa., to the Lord Mayor of London. This was the reward as previously announced.

for the winner of the point system. It was two proud boys that washed up, polished their shoes and brushed their clothes in order that they might look their best and fulfill their mission. At the castle they were received royally by the Lord Mayor. They were given the honor of seeing and holding in their hands the famous original charter of London together with the other ornaments and chains that form a part of the paraphernalia accompanying this responsible appointment to office. Not many visitors ever have this opportunity extended to them and no two boys ever returned with more vivid description of any trip than did these boys. They were given in turn a letter from the Lord Mayor of London to Mayor Gillespie of New Castle. It is one of the valued possessions of the Lawrence county contingent on their homeward course.

The writer doesn't know just for sure whether Calahan got lost in London the following night or not, but he does know that he was frantically knocking at the door of the hotel some time after midnight, anxiously awaiting admission. It so happened that Parlett and Stevenson arrived at the hotel in millionaire style in a taxicab, just in time to encounter Calahan in his distressing position. Both Parlett and Stevenson say that he was very quiet as he entered the building, and that he gave no remarks to them although it was far past the time when they should have been in bed.

The rest of the time spent in London was used in touring the important places of historic interest, which surround it on all sides. Buckingham Palace and the changing of the guards, St. Paul's Cathedral and an extensive trip through Westminster Abbey. All these places added to the educational phase already noted in the minds of the boys from their school books.

Leaving London in the evening by train, the group arrived at the small channel boat, passed through custom officials and proceeded the rest of the night on their trip to Brussels. Early in the morning the group found themselves strangers in a strange land. Not able to speak their language, nor understand the questions that were continually asked them. However, they were taken at once to a large hotel and a hearty breakfast set before them. Immediately after the meal, a large sight-seeing bus was in readiness for an extended sight-seeing trip around this city. The remainder of the day was spent in Brussels and in the evening the group again left by train for Paris.

The train ride was very monotonous and tiresome for the boys. The compartments were very small and crowded to capacity. Scouts were distributed all over the train. The attention was held part of the time to the scars of battle so noticeable along the way. Remains of homes, wrecked cathedrals, trenches and huge berths could be seen along the way. The customs officials allowed the group to pass the baggage. This has been one of the fine courtesies shown to the Boy Scouts in all the nations visited. Not yet have they been delayed or checked from one country to the other.

Arriving at Paris, the train was met by the representative of the tours, the group conveyed to the Trianon Palace hotel and all anxious for a taste of Paris life. The manager of the hotel and several others speak English, so no difficulty arose in understanding them. The boys at once changed their money into French currency in order to do their shopping when the opportunity arrived.

The following morning the group toured the city visiting Notre Dame Cathedral, the memorable Arches, past the Louvre and on to the Eiffel Tower. Monuments of great men could be seen at nearly every city block. All around Paris are beautifully designed buildings, highly decorated colored glass windows and tall memorials. It would take volumes to record all the sights that have been visited by this group of boys, so many have they seen. Another day was taken to tour the treasures, castles, home and final resting place of Napoleon. He is the great figure in all France and gives us an entirely new vision in the study of French history.

A visit to the farm of Josephine, wife of Napoleon, was of interest to the boys. In a small lake about the center of the farm so many fish occupy the lake that they actually get in one another's way. The large ones are about 24 inches long, and can be seen by the thousands at all points. How many New Castle sportsmen would like to visit this place? However, they are not allowed to fish in the lake, so the men must be content to watch the fish go lazily by, almost begging for bait, it seems. Calahan says that the only prettier place than this is the Slippery Rock, where it goes through the "pines" at the Boy Scout camp.

A whole day was devoted to a tour of the battlefields. It covered over 200 miles and included the important steps of the World War. A route was taken from Paris that led around Claye, Belleau Wood, the American and allied cemeteries, Chateau Thierry, the famous one hundred and eight hill, Rheims and returned by Le Bourget field where "Lindy" made his memorable landing. Many souvenirs were won and purchased by the group of scouts. This completed our visit to Paris, returning the night of the 20th to Havre, France, where our final arrangements were made, embarking on the S. S. California for the U. S. A.

The voyage to New York was a very pleasant one for the boys, nice weather, smooth sea and nice passengers made it a pleasant trip. Connon, Nesbit, Harper, Offutt, Metzler and Chapman were very seasick, while many others were on the verge of it. It seems that Gates, the Shannons and the Stumps are all immune from any of these trying times.

Herbert has had entire charge of the campfire programs aboard the California, holding one almost every night, to the delight of all on board. On Sabbath afternoon a special scout service was held, with Herbert acting as leader. A large number enjoyed the talk and congratulations were numerous.

Our one sad feature on this boat is the American scout who lost his life in England and was brought back to the United States aboard this ship. Our heartfelt sympathies go with the noble leader of this boy and to the parents who are anxiously awaiting this sad return of their loved one who helped make our American contingent the success it was. The scouts formed a guard for the lad as he was removed from the boat at New York.

SEVENTY FOUR BELIEVED DEAD I NSHIP CRASH

brought the bulk of the stunned and injured survivors.

Claims Excessive Speed
Among the survivors were 22 of the San Juan's crew and only 18 passengers. Only three of the crew, three women on the ship's passenger list were saved. The bodies of several women who perished were picked up by the coast guard cutter Tahoe.

Charges that the Dodd was sailing through the fog at excessive speed without a proper lookout and without sounding the required signals were made by the San Juan owners in a suit filed in Federal court demanding $1,800,000 damages.

True to marine tradition, Capt. Adolf F. Asplund, aged skipper of the San Juan, went down with his charge.

"I was standing near him," reported steward George Haines. "He shouted to me, 'Why don't you jump, you fool!' I jumped."

Tried to Prevent Crash
Capt. Asplund had retired from the sea and was called back to substitute for the regular master, who was on vacation.

Capt. Hugo Bleumchen, master of the Dodd, today described frantic efforts he said his crew made to avert the accident.

"From the bridge I saw the San Juan bearing across our starboard bow, perhaps a quarter of a mile away," he said.

"I immediately ordered the engines full astern. After that I heard the San Juan blow her whistle three times indicating she too was in reverse. Our helm was to port, as we would cross the stern of the other ship. If the San Juan had proceeded ahead the collision would have been avoided."

The San Juan sank within three minutes after the crash.

Possibility of the missing being found alive was considered a note. The waters are icy cold. Even a powerful swimmer able to gain shore probably would not be able to land on the rock-studded shore with its crashing surf.

Search For Bodies
From Santa Cruz northward to Half Moon Bay watchers lined the coast on the lookout for bodies.

Political Advertisement
An investigation has been launched to determine the blame, if possible, for one of the worst maritime disasters in the history of this section of the Pacific coast.

It was at first reported the two ships collided in a dense fog. Later reports disclosed the lights of the ships were discernible to each other, although a blanket of fog enveloped them shortly after the crash.

As the Dodd and San Juan were locked together momentarily, a woman on the deck of the San Juan threw a small boy on to the decks of the Dodd.

Six-year-old Hollis Pifer of Los Angeles was the boy tossed to safety. His mother, Mrs. Marjorie Pifer, leaped into the sea and perished after saving her son.

Sinks Rapidly
With the San Juan immersed in darkness almost immediately after the crash, the passengers, trapped in staterooms, were for the most part unable to reach the decks. Some, however, managed to throw themselves into the sea. Of these, some were rescued and others were sucked down by the whirlpool created by the foundering ship.

The Dodd lowered life boats immediately and began picking up struggling victims. The steamer Muanani, which was following the San Juan, down line coast, arrived shortly afterward and also assisted in rescue work.

The San Juan disappeared from sight before the rescue work had scarcely gotten under way.

New Chairman Will Take Charge As Club Resumes Activities On Wednesday

Meetings of the New Castle Booster club, which were suspended during the summer, will be resumed on next Wednesday evening, when a number of matters of importance which have developed during the past two months will be brought up for discussion and a busy season of activities mapped out.

The Booster club was organized last spring for the purpose of boosting New Castle and aiding in the consummation of civic projects. After several months of organization work, they are now firmly established and expect to be able to carry forward a number of things for the betterment of New Castle.

John R. Dunfee, will preside during the next four months as chairman, William E. Ferver having completed his term of office and will be inducted into office at the meeting next Wednesday.

KIDNEYS SELDOM FREE FROM POISON

Clean Them Out And Backache, Sideache And Bladder Troubles Go.

It's mighty close to the truth to say that there are ten thousand apparently healthy people in America today, who will have kidney disease, dropsy or some form of kidney disease within two months.

If you have backache, or the slightest suggestion of backache, don't take chances. Get a bottle of Thompson's Barosma today and give your kidneys a thorough cleaning. They probably need it. If they don't, Thompson's Barosma is a good tonic anyway and will do you good. Price $1.00.

Thompson's Barosma is guaranteed to relieve kidney or bladder disease, no matter how distressing, or money back. Put up in liquid form, is quickly assimilated and goes directly to the seat of trouble. The very first dose should make your sick kidneys feel better, but bear this in mind when constipation is present, Golden Lax Tablets should also be used. 25c and 50c. For sale at all drug stores.

The Story Of The World War
CII—Armed Neutrality

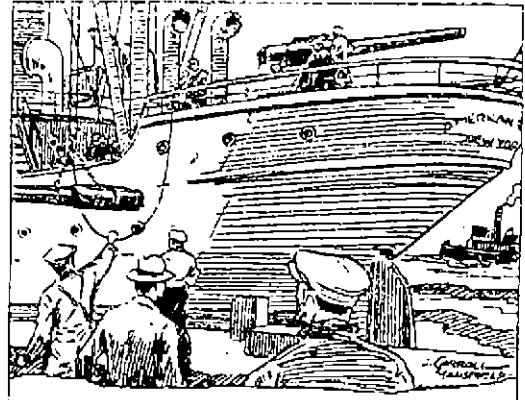

HAVING SEVERED DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH GERMANY (FEB. 3, 1917), AFTER SHE HAD WARNED THE WORLD THAT SHE WAS ABOUT TO BEGIN UNRESTRICTED SUBMARINE WARFARE, PRESIDENT WILSON CONSIDERED MEANS OF PROTECTING OUR MERCHANT SHIPS AGAINST U-BOAT ATTACKS. FEBRUARY 26, 1917, HE ASKED CONGRESS FOR AUTHORITY TO ORDER GUNS PLACED ABOARD OUR MERCHANTMEN, TO BE USED IN SELF-DEFENSE.

A BILL TO THAT EFFECT WAS AT ONCE PUT BEFORE THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. BEFORE THE MEASURE CAME UP FOR DEBATE, NEWS ARRIVED OF THE TORPEDOING OF THE STEAMER "LACONIA" ON FEBRUARY 25 BY A GERMAN SUBMARINE, AND THE LOSS OF TWO AMERICANS ABOARD THE ILL-FATED VESSEL.

SURRED ON BY NEWS OF THIS LATEST SINKING, THE HOUSE, BY A LARGE MAJORITY, PASSED THE BILL AUTHORIZING THE PRESIDENT TO ESTABLISH ARMED NEUTRALITY. WHEN THE MEASURE CAME BEFORE THE SENATE, IT WAS OPPOSED BY A SMALL GROUP OF SENATORS THAT THWARTED ITS PASSAGE BY A SUCCESSFUL FILIBUSTER.

THIS SETBACK DID NOT DETER PRESIDENT WILSON. HAVING FOUND THAT EXISTING LAWS GAVE HIM THE AUTHORITY TO TAKE SUCH A STEP ON HIS OWN INITIATIVE, HE ORDERED GUNS MOUNTED ABOARD AMERICAN MERCHANTMEN.

CONTINUED MONDAY.

High School Football Team Leaves Camp

Outlook Better, Boys Determined

New Castle High School Gridders Break Camp Today
At Muddy Creek
Falls

BRIDENBAUGH
SATISFIED

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Bronzed and tanned from a week under a boiling hot sun at Muddy Creek Falls, the 40 New Castle high school football candidates hied themselves back to the city late today. The camp period came to an end this morning with a heavy drill. Practice sessions will be resumed at Ben Franklin field next week.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh is satisfied with the result of the week's training. The boys have been given the fundamentals, they have but to perfect the system in the next few weeks. The opening game will find New Castle high ready for a tough battle with Grove City.

Two practice sessions have been held each day this week at the camp in the morning, and another in the afternoon. The sessions were anything but routine for the candidates. The drilling was strenuous.

Serimagine is held.

Yesterday afternoon Coach Bridenbaugh sent the boys through a scrimmage drill that produced the desired results. It gave him a chance to scan closely his material under fire. The first team looked good as they tore through the seconds. Ar. Alexander, McIntosh and McAuley carried the ball the most for the first team. The line was charging low and fast, and the second team line had a hard time in holding them. Quite a few mythical touchdowns were recorded for the first team.

Bridenbaugh is giving the team a new formation this year that is going to be a "bum-buzzer" when perfected. Wait till you see it. The material while quite green is slowly rounding into shape.

Very Successful Camp.

Faculty Manager Gardner says that the camp this year was one of the most successful that the school has ever maintained. The boys went over their work with a fine spirit.

Cooperation was the keynote. New Castle high had a line array of coaches at camp. Bridenbaugh was the "big shot," Klee and Thomas acted as coaches of the second and third teams and Paul Reider, former New Castle high star and late of Bellefonte, was on hand to pass out information on a few matters.

Gardner was assisted at camp by Student Manager Russell Forney and by Assistant Managers Bill Long, Bill Broadbent and Dave Brewster. The boys took care of all the minor details of the camp in tip-top shape.

School will open next Wednesday and the practice sessions will be resumed at Franklin field.

LORD TENNYSON, CRICKETER

The present Lord Tennyson, grandson of the famous poet, is becoming one of the most popular cricketers in England. Since he has ceased to be known as the Hon. Lionel Tennyson he has had many revolvers of his distinguished grandparent. He recently received the following letter from a woman: "In honor of your visit and your vigorous batting I have purchased a volume of your poems, which I think are exceedingly good, but I'd like to meet you personally and point out one or two parts that I think you could really improve."

"Perspiration means one thing but sweat is meaner," which is Tennyson's "strongest statement possible for August."

Is age is a private matter

It is very difficult to discover, by its appearance, how old a Lincoln is. Lincoln believes in making automobiles so beautiful that they are always modern — so durable that they simply won't wear out. The age of a Lincoln is no one's concern — least of all its owner's. On the boulevards a Lincoln of last season and the newest model share honors equally with Lincolns years older than either.

So fine is this car that a year or so of use does not perceptibly detract from any of its splendid qualities. Lincoln owners are often men who can, and do, provide the best professional care for their cars. Sometimes each well-kept car is available at very attractive prices from Lincoln dealers. The wisdom of investing in such a motor car is quite evident, and shrewd buyers are quick to take advantage of the opportunity.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

TRAYNOR GRABS OFF FIVE HITS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 31.—The faltering Cubs lost another one to the rejuvenated Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday at Forbes Field. It was the fourth straight for the Oaklanders. The score was 15 to 0. The Pirates went on a hitting spree. Guy Bush, Chicago mound ace was greeted by a heavy barrage in the first three innings and gave way to Neff. The Pittsburgh team had 21 hits. Meine was in rare form. The Pirates gave him good support. Pie Traynor had a good day at bat, getting five hits in five times at bat. The lead of the Cubs was cut to 10 1/2 games.

New Yorker Wins Marathon Swim

Edward Keating, New York City, Captures Wrigley Prize At Lake Ontario

(International News Service) TORONTO, Aug. 31.—The grit of two seventeen-year-old youths in the fourth Wrigley swimming marathon for the championship of the world here yesterday eclipsed the performance of Edward Keating of New York, himself but a youth, who won the event.

It remained for Isador Sponder, of Port Colborne, Ont., and Marvin Nelson of Fort Dodge, Ia., to provide the real thrill for the same 200,000 persons who lined the Lake Ontario waterfront of the Canadian Exhibition grounds to witness the spectacular affair, although Keating's grit to pull away from Ernst Vierkoter, the German, in the last lap wasn't to be sneezed at.

However, it was Sponder, who swimming in his first long distance contest fought his way up from the rear, passing veteran after veteran, to finally place fourth and gain $1,500, and it was Nelson who not as successful as his comrade, also ploughed his way through from behind to take second position for a while closely trailing the leader only to fall, fall back and finally be forced to withdraw from the race in sixth position but 50 yards from the finishing point.

"Blair a Comer."
"McMillan, who has been out of the game with an injury, is the best bet. The youngster, Blair, however, has been doing a good job. He looks like a comer. Beck has been moved all over the infield in an effort to fit him in."

"Those right-handed hitters of Connie's are going to drive a lot of baseballs toward third base. And with the ball as lively as it is, and with the punch Simmons, Fox and the others have behind it, a third baseman must be sure of himself—must cover a lot of ground, have a good whip, and fit in well in team play—to make the most of the position."

"This doesn't mean that the Cubs' chances are necessarily lessened."
"I've seen games in which the third baseman loomed all afternoon. But on the other hand, the manager with a weak spot in his infield is going to fret about the chances of the opposing team playing that spot. And the whole team is going to be uneasy on a play in that direction."

"The Athletics, as I said before, are mostly right-handed hitters, which means that there'll be just as many more shots along third base."

Catching Weakness.
"And then there is the catching weakness."

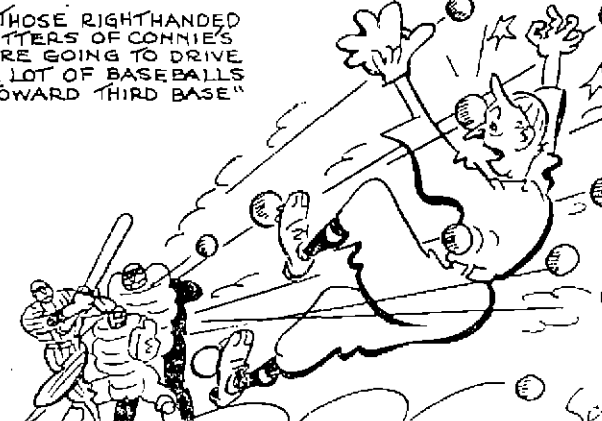

Ten lettermen were present for the first rehearsal, which consisted of a speech by the coach on the differences from the Dartmouth-Pitt systems, outlining the system of play he desires the gridgers to use, handing out equipment and an extensive drill on the gridiron.

Following is a list of the new members of the freshman class who reported for the first session: Millard School, 210-pound tackle from West Newton; James McCracken, halfback; John McKay, end, Charlestown.

"Reality is the deepest demand of this age, despite prevalent materialism."

Cubs' Weak Spots

Grover Alexander Points 'Em Out In Chicago Team's Defense

By NORMAN E. BROWN, Central Press Sports Writer.
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—The Cubs have the batting power and the pitching to race any ball team. But there are spots on the ball club that are weak.

It was Grover Alexander talking as we continued our chat in his room at the hotel.
"McCarthy has been trying for a long time to fill third base. This year McMillan, Beck and a youngster named Blair have been shoved in there. Last year you'll recall he tried Riggs Stephenson there."

"Blair a Comer."
"McMillan, who has been out of the game with an injury, is the best bet. The youngster, Blair, however, has been doing a good job. He looks like a comer. Beck has been moved all over the infield in an effort to fit him in."

"And then there is the catching weakness."

"Barring some accident to him before then, the Athletics have Cochrane behind the plate. They have no weak spot in the infield. And they have the reserve strength in case someone does go wrong. With Fox, Boley, Dykes, Hale and Bishop they can juggle their infield considerably to meet conditions—without lessening its effectiveness, offensively or defensively."

"I'd say offhand that the Athletics have the edge as far as a well moulded team is concerned. But once more a lot of these accepted conditions can go to pot in a short series like the World series."

City County League Championship Race On

Arrangements Completed For The Playing Of League Championship Series

All is ready for the series of games to decide the championship of the City County League in 1929.
The contending teams for the league honors are Danceland, which team just finished winning the second half of the league's schedule and Energy, which team won in the first half of the season.

These teams are about evenly matched, judging from their records of the past season and the series should prove of real interest to baseball enthusiasts of the city and county.

Commissioners of the league today announced that the series would open on Labor Day afternoon at the Danceland grounds in this city. The second game of the series will be played Saturday, September 7 at 3 p. m. in Energy. The third game will be played Monday evening, September 9, at the Danceland grounds.

The series is for the best out of five games and if it is necessary to play more than three games, announcement of that fact will be made later. The tentative dates of two additional games, of necessary to decide the series will be Tuesday evening, September 10 and Wednesday evening, September 11. The place of playing these games will also be announced later.

The teams are required to use the players that have been playing regular with them and have been under contract in accordance with the rules of the league. Two umpires will be assigned to each game. The first named will be the umpire in charge.

Umpire assignments for the first three games of the series follow—Labor Day, Monday, September 2, 1929: Energy at Danceland—Evans and Reed Hogue; Saturday, September 7: Danceland at Energy—Sam Dominic and Evans; Monday, September 9: Energy at Danceland—Miz Dart and Owens.

A's Are Well Moulded.
"Barring some accident to him before then, the Athletics have Cochrane behind the plate. They have no weak spot in the infield. And they have the reserve strength in case someone does go wrong. With Fox, Boley, Dykes, Hale and Bishop they can juggle their infield considerably to meet conditions—without lessening its effectiveness, offensively or defensively."

"I'd say offhand that the Athletics have the edge as far as a well moulded team is concerned. But once more a lot of these accepted conditions can go to pot in a short series like the World series."

The standing of the league to date:
Lehigh 6 0 1000
Phalanx 3 1 833
Tin Mill 4 1 833
Post Office 2 4 333
News Office 2 5 385
Firemen 1 3 280
Bankers 1 4 200
Haney 1 4 200

News Office Team Victors

News Office Mushball Team Ends Losing Streak By Downing Post Office 10-9

You can't lose them all. The News Office mushball team last night in one of those Horatio Alger finishes, the eleventh hour stuff, downed the Post Office team 10 to 9. It was a good game. It was the second victory for The News in the final round of play.

The News boys batted in four runs in the first inning and came back with three in the fourth after two were out and the score stood at 7 to 2. The Mail Carriers have scored a pair in the second frame. The News went to pieces in the fifth and allowed six runs to go over the plate, but after that they settled down and played a real brand of ball. The Post Office team led 9 to 8 going into the final inning and a last minute rally gave The News two runs and the victory. It was a timely little single by Lewellen that sent the winning run over the plate with two away.

Bray, Lewellen, Gresham, Fox and Nowling played a good game for The News team in the field. At bat the work of Ross, Finch, Lewellen and Fox featured. Wilson, E. Spencer, Lutz, W. Spencer played best ball for the Post Office. Davis on the mound for the Mail Carriers did not receive very good support. The News team gave Walther excellent aid.

The summary:

News Office	R	H	E
Nowling, lf	1	1	0

CLOSING FAIR RACES EXCEPTIONALLY FAST

Closing races of the New Castle Fair association meet held Friday afternoon were fast, well contested and worthy of a much greater attendance than was accorded them.

Through the medium of the efficient starting of Chester Stands of Columbus, and the small number of horses competing in the three races, some of the prettiest starts and exciting finishes in the history of the New Castle Fair track were staged.

The first race of the afternoon was the 2:18 pace in which Prince Mc, entry of George Bennett of Cleveland, won the first two heats and Alice Royal, entry of D. H. Baker of Worcester, O., won the third heat. It looked like a sure enough three straight win for Prince Mc until Alice Royal, not to be denied, came from the rear and marched right down to the finishing line in first position.

Local Horse Surprises.
The 2:14 pace was the second event of the afternoon and Laura B. entry of Mrs. Laura Biddestone of Youngstown, O., took the first two heats with comparative ease but in rather slow time for such a pace. Lucille Heir, the entry of Crowl & Wheldon of this city, came from behind in the final heat and in the stretch asserted her racing ability to the extent of being returned a winner. It was rather an upset in the dope because of the previous showing of Lucille Heir.

Warren Horse Wins.
The third and concluding race of the afternoon was the claiming trot $600 for non-winners in 1928. Queen Bingen, entry of R. D. Seeley of Warren, O., won the race in three straight heats and, when her supremacy was questioned by the several other horses in the event by their great effort to win, in the last heat, she simply stepped out and left them far in the rear. A summary of the Friday races follows:

2:18 Pace—Purse $400.

will depend on the class of new men who will arrive here Wednesday.

Coach Berry will have three weeks to prepare for the opening game with Adrian. The squad is certain to be ready physically, as Berry's system demands a lot of conditioning work. Given a fast, powerful attack, Grove City's chances for a good season look good.

South New Castle Schools To Open

Preparations have been completed for the opening of the South New Castle borough schools on Tuesday September 3 officials of the school district stated today.

Needed improvements have been made and all preparations have been made for the start of a successful term.

GLASGOW STOPS "SWEEPS"
Sweepstakes on horse racing have been discontinued in Glasgow, Scotland, as the result of the intervention of city officials who declared them to be lotteries and therefore illegal. The decision came just before the recent English derby at Epsom Downs after large sums had been paid into the pools, and presented a problem of refunding the money to those who had bought tickets. Among the largest "sweeps" were those of the Stock Exchange, the Royal Exchange and the Glasgow Fish Trade Association.

Grove City Squad To Start Training

Fifty Candidates Are Directed To Report To Training Camp

GROVE CITY, Aug. 31.—Final training camp instructions have been mailed to fifty football candidates by Robert E. Thorn, director of athletics at Grove City College. Importance of being on hand for the morning session Wednesday, September 4, was stressed, and Thorn made it plain that all must be present for the afternoon drill.

Complete plans were arranged when Thorn and head coach Charlie Berry conferred at Cleveland recently. Berry, a member of the coaching staff of the Boston American League team, will come directly to Grove City after the doubleheader with Washington on Labor Day, and will take charge Wednesday morning.

The morning of the opening day will be devoted to trying on the uniforms, making whatever changes are necessary in equipment, and general loosening up on the field. The first regular practice will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon, when Berry will send his charges through exercises of a fundamental nature.

Grove City, riding the class B colleges of the Tri-State district for several years, faces a new situation for the 1929 campaign. Graduation and scholarship rulings have hit the backfield a hard blow, taking seven men of last year's squad. Slovaks Trim Wampum 4 To 2

Slovaks Take Sixth Straight Game; Mehalec Beats Grinnen In Mound Duel

The Slovaks made it six in a row last night at the Flats field by downing Wampum, 4 to 2. The game was a pitchers' battle from start to finish. Grinnen and Mehalec were the opposing pitchers. The latter had the better of the argument. It was a fast game and one of the best played of the year at the south side field.

The Slovaks scored one run in each of the first four innings. The game was halted in the fifty on account of darkness. The Wampum team got their two runs in the third and fifth.

Each pitcher allowed but three hits. Wampum had three errors behind Grinnen, while the Slovaks felled very well behind Mehalec. A fast double play, Houk to Robertson, featured for Wampum with the sacks loaded.

Danceland Team Wins Exhibition

The Danceland team took an exhibition game from the Cascade A. C. team in a game played last night, at the Cascade Park grounds. The final score was 5 to 3. The game was a hurling duel between Gray and Martin, with the former the more effective.

The game was featured by two home run drives, by Gall and Collins of the Danceland team. Fabian and Bender hit timely for the losers.

Deluged With Mail

Ever since Miss Lela Mae Barnum, of Amarillo, Tex., has been known as "Queen of the Texas Panhandle," because of her rich oil strike, she has been deluged with letters containing every thing from requests for money to proposals of marriage. "There ought to be some way to stop it," she says disgustedly.

Statement that knees are "going out" gives us a good giggle. What else have they been doing for many moons past—going out and without.

Fifty Answer Football Call At Thiel College

GREENVILLE, Aug. 31.—Connecticut's Thiel College football team will be Thiel College's football team for this year, which opens next week. The camp will see 20 members of last year's grid eleven present, along with 30 more new prospects, according to an announcement from Athletic Director J. B. Sloeber. Graduation loss the members, Berkman, Bliston and Thompson. With the exception of these three there are but two who have failed to turn in their cards for the lake camp. The two are Myers and Costan, but both are expected to be on hand for the training when camp opens. Coach Lake will be Thiel College's football team for this year, which opens next week. NEW CASTLE LADS GLAD TO BE BACK AFTER "JAMBOREE" spots of an event which history is bound to record, were there when the first lad jumped off the train. Fond greetings caused emotion as the happy sons were once more united, after a lay that lasted the greater portion of two months.

The boys were the first to step off the train which brought them from Washington, D. C. Earl K. Herbert of Ellwood, assistant leader of the group, was next with parents of the boys, last of all, J. Lee Calahan, chief of the Lawrence county party, followed.

A cheer for the group went up just as Calahan, carrying bags of luggage and equipment, reached the platform.

While they were glad to get back, glad to be among friends again, the boys came back heartily satisfied and with vivid memories of that magnificent and not-to-be-forgotten Boy Scout affair.

Yesterday, the party was in Washington, D. C. visiting sights that the capital city offers. The capital building, White House and other prominent governmental buildings were seen, all of which aroused within the group a real spirit of Americanism.

S. S. California Late

The S. S. California brought the New Castle boys and those of seven other states from across the seas. Heavy fog delayed its entrance into port making it 24 hours late. It was 5:30 p. m. Thursday, when the steamship docked and its passengers landed, and the plaudits of thousands who had long awaited the ship's arrival.

Immediately after luggage, and everything had been checked, the group was hurried to a sightseeing bus and taken to points of interest in the metropolis. A feature was the trip to Chinatown.

A party of New Castle folks, most of whom were parents of the returning scouts, were on hand to greet them. They continued with them on the sightseeing excursion both around New York and to the capital city, returning with them today.

Chief Scout Executive Calahan was enthused when he reached the city today, knowing that everything was safe and sound and that his task of caring for the boys was ended.

Glad To Get Back

"We're glad to get back. I'm telling you," Calahan gasped as parents and others attempted to clasp his hand in greeting. "We had a wonderful time, but there's too much to talk about. I won't attempt it now. Everything went off in an ideal manner. The boys and myself, personally, thank the parents and A. J. Goldman, who took care of our plans after docking at New York. He had everything in tip top shape."

With Calahan were the other leaders, and they all had the same message. Months and months will not unravel the many stories which the scouts and their leaders might tell regarding the jamboree.

For some reason, the Prince of Wales impressed the local boys considerably. On arrival at New York they were anxious to tell that they had seen the prince. It was the same way here, only not quite so vociferous. Hundreds landed there while only 21 scouts landed at Mahoningtown station this morning.

Present to welcome local boys were the secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, James Cole, and leading business and professional men. Before the train reached New Castle a crowd of nearly 300 had gathered on the platform.

Parents Present

The Scouts carried with them all equipment used at the Birkenhead pageant, cooking, clothing and other supplies. The Scouts were dressed in regular jamboree uniforms when they reached here this morning.

Besides J. Lee Calahan, who directed the trip, was Earl K. Herbert of Ellwood, Wallace Mott and Loran Conner, both of this city. Returning jamboree Scouts included Alfred Stump Jr., David Nesbit, Arthur Smith, Jack Stevenson, George Winter, Howard Gates, James Metzler, Edward Chapman, Bobby Harper, Thomas Wilson, Clyde Shannon, Harry Shannon, John Wheeler, John Stump, John Offutt, Thomas Parlett, Joseph Sweeney of Youngstown, who assisted as leader of the boys, was also among the group.

"New Castle had the largest party of any United States council," Mr.

Calahan said, "and for that reason they featured our boys considerably. Newspapers made mention of our own delegation."

Plans for a community welcome to the Scouts, who have gained not alone for themselves, but New Castle and Lawrence county, real publicity in standing out as one of the most efficient groups that had a part in the affair, are complete. A parade will precede the program at the American Legion home on North Jefferson street. The returning Scouts will gather first at the Cathedral steps at seven o'clock and march from there to a point on East street above the North street school. There the parade will organize.

Weather for the unofficial greeting today was ideal, and contrasted considerably with that of the weather on July 19 when they departed so early in the morning.

Safe Crossings

The trip to Birkenhead was uneventful, as was the return voyage. While sightseeing in Paris following the exposition, Tom Parlett, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Parlett, suffered an injury to one of his fingers. Part of the finger was amputated. The injured member is improving now. According to Mr. Calahan the accident occurred when Parlett stepped off a bus in the famous French city, catching it in the door in some manner.

Parlett's accident was the only one. The boys did suffer seasickness somewhat the first few days out from New York at the start of the trip abroad, but soon after the boys became accustomed to the seas and seasickness soon vanished.

The returning party carried with them today a letter of greeting from the mayor of Newcastle, England, where they visited. J. Lee Calahan will read the message tonight in the presence of New Castle's mayor. On the trip over the local group took a message from Mayor Gillespie to the English lord mayor and his reply is contained in the letter they carry.

Duke Of Abruzzi Plans Holiday

Angelo J. Cassachia To Deliver Principal Address Saturday, Sept. 7

Fifth anniversary of the enactment of the construction and bylaws of the Duke of Abruzzi Society of the Croton district, will be fittingly observed by that organization on Saturday, September 7. While the celebration gets underway Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock with a band concert in the Croton district, the real celebration will be held all day Saturday.

On Saturday morning at ten o'clock a high mass will be celebrated in St. Vitus church with the members of the society attending in a body. All members of the society, their wives and children will march to and from the church in a body.

Following the mass, the Duke of Abruzzi Band (Red Coat) will parade the principal streets of the city and play delightful music.

At 8:30 p. m. Saturday evening, there will be given away the following articles:—First prize, woolen blanket; second prize, five cases of Premium macaroni; third prize, two gallons of pure olive oil.

At 9 p. m. there will be given the principal address of the affair with Angelo J. Cassachia as the speaker. From the conclusion of the address until 11:30 o'clock, there will be a concert by the Duke of Abruzzi Band.

At eleven-thirty o'clock, there will be a fine display of fireworks given by the Pennsylvania Fireworks company.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Donato Prioletti, chairman; Nicholas Nemo, vice-chairman; Angelo D'Aquila, secretary; Genaro Rubbics, treasurer.

Red Cross Office Open All Day Tuesday

Pat J. Dempsey, secretary of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, will return Tuesday from the American Legion state convention at Scranton, and will be in the office all day Tuesday and Wednesday.

After Wednesday, September 4th, the office will be open between the hours of 3 and 5 p. m. until further notice.

Boy Scouts Witness "Big League" Game

One hundred and seventy five scouts from the Lawrence county council attended what was for most of them at least their first "Big League" ball game at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, on Friday, August 30 and had the satisfaction of seeing their favorites, the Pirates, wallop the league leading Cubs by the healthy score of 15-0.

The trip was under the auspices of the New Castle American Legion and the Allegheny County Councils, B. S. A. Seventy Scouts under the leadership of Perry L. Ober, assistant executive, were taken to Pittsburgh in two special cars on the Harmony line, transferring at Pittsburgh to a special car of the Pittsburgh Railways, and arriving at Schenley Park at 12 o'clock as the first of the American Legion Boys Work Committee's events in the fall and winter program.

Approximately six thousand Scouts were present and paraded from Schenley Park to Forbes Field in a body before the game. Lawrence County Council with one hundred fifty Scouts in uniform, including the New Brighton Drum and Bugle Corps of twenty pieces, was one of the largest visiting delegations present and were awarded the place of honor directly behind the American flag in the line of march. The boys had grandstand seats and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh team was on hand to welcome them. As it was through his courtesy that the Scouts were admitted free to the game.

Besides the ball game some of the boys by dint of going without dinner "look in" a large part of the Carnegie Museum, while others went through the Pittsburgh Conservatory under various leaders. All, however, saw the new Cathedral of Learning of the University of Pittsburgh which is now under construction. A great deal of argument took place as to the eventual state of the Scout who should lean too far out of a thirty-second story window but no one appeared willing to try so that great scientific question still awaits solution by a Scout seeking Fame, Fortune, and Flairness.

Scoutmasters Marshall, Brady and Thorne were in charge of the trip under the supervision of Perry L. Ober and the American Legion. The Bes

Broader Application For Pension Law Is Asked At St. Paul Convention

WOULD ENFRANCHISE CAPITAL RESIDENTS

Increased payments and broader application of pension laws, creation of a pension plan for widows of World War veterans, and other pension law reforms were advocated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at their national convention in St. Paul, Minn., according to a message sent here by James A. Bell, representing the Harry J. McBride Post No. 522 of New Castle.

Another resolution passed at the convention for the enfranchisement of the citizens of the District of Columbia and members of the United States army, navy, and marines corps.

The pension program, adopted in its entirety calls for:

Increase in the amount of pensions paid veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars.

General increase of pensions for maimed veterans to $100 a month for the loss of one limb and $200 a month for the loss of two limbs.

Creation of a pension, based on the scale of disabled soldier's compensation while he lived, to be paid to his widow, so that the widows of disabled veterans will continue to receive their compensation payments.

Privilege of examination for pension at any government hospital.

Indorsement of a bill before congress to pay pensions to all veterans of foreign wars of the United States.

More sweeping resolutions demanding additional hospital facilities for disabled veterans throughout the entire United States also were adopted unanimously.

Adopting the report of its committee on legislation, the veterans also went on record as favoring increases in pay for all the military forces of the nation, liberalization of rules relating to hospitalization of veterans and indorsing the Brookhart bill providing for immediate payment of adjusted compensation allowed by the government. The organization also recorded itself as opposing the placing of any time limit on filing claims for disability and also to permit suit by the claimant on any denied claims.

Swimming Pool Officially Closes

Short Ceremony At New Wilmington; Tournery Draws Interest

NEW WILMINGTON, Aug. 31.—Marked by the short ceremony of taking in the diving board, the New Wilmington swimming pool and recreation center officially closed for the winter today.

Jack Hulme, director of recreational activity in the college town, officiated at the closing of the pool, a job which also included the boarding up of the bath houses and the storing of sport equipment.

Running true to the predictions of the dogmatists, the team of Dave Means and Thomas Hutchinson forged ahead in the New Wilmington horse shoe pitching tournament to take the lead over the C. B. White-Vic Minter duo.

Despite the great number of games that must be played before a winner among the 26 teams in the contest may be crowned, the interest in the tournament is high. Bleacher fans often greatly outnumber the team players at the evening contests on the illuminated courts.

Still, when you come to think about it, there are a lot of front seat drivers who aren't so hot, either.

Four Are Entered In Parachute Spot Landing Contest

Will Be Big Feature Of Labor Day Celebration Program At Fair Grounds

PARACHUTE SPOT LANDING CONTEST will furnish thrills at Fair Grounds Labor Day.

Four contestants have registered for the trials at a thirty foot ring in front of the Grand Stand. The entries to date are Miss Estelle Ross, Mr. Harry Fogle, Mr. Ray Mahan and Al Wilcox.

Miss Ross is a twenty year old girl from Erie, Pa., who has so far made five successful parachute jumps. She made her first jump the first time she was in an aeroplane.

Mr. Fogle who will also try for the prize of the Spot Landing Contest is a veteran jumper, having made twenty-three successful leaps from a speeding aeroplane. He claims to have broken a leg only once.

Ray Mahan seems to be the favorite for the Spot Landing Contest. He holds all Spot Landing Records for the United States. He is a twenty year old boy who has been jumping for three years. Mr. Mahan claims that on Labor Day he will make his four-hundred and sixty-fifth leap from an aeroplane. Mr. Mahan is from Danville, Illinois.

Mr. Al Wilcox from Minneapolis has also registered for the trials in the Spot Landing Contest. The rules of the Contest are as follows:

Each contestant if they wish may have two trials for making the Spot. Each jumper must jump from an aeroplane at an altitude of one thousand feet or more, and will attempt to land within a thirty foot circle in front of the Grand Stand. The one who lands closest to the center of this thirty foot circle will be named winner of the contest.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There is a possibility that this may not be true. Just a faint possibility, but it is there. It happened Wednesday night according to the night shift up at the police station.

Officer Mike Ritty is patrolling his beat as a good officer should. He hears a row above him and looking up finds it is the Graf Zeppelin.

Dr. Hugo Eckenker is at the controls and looking down finds that he is in New Castle. Learning far over the side of the gondola he notices Mike and cupping his hands yelled "Ist das route flier hundert zwei und swanzig?"

Mike was so surprised that when he got breath enough to answer the Zep was headed out the Harlansburg road.

In horse racing sometimes you lose when you win. One chap who attended the races knows it. He liked one of the horses in the race and mentioned that he would like to place a small wager on him.

"Five gets you ten" said a stranger sitting next to him and in a moment the bet was made. However the stranger insisted that he would hold the stake.

The stranger lost, but thus far he has the ten dollars and the local lad is wondering why he didn't come back.

Now that the fair is over, there seems nothing in the offing in the way of sport except the World's Series, football and perhaps a little golf. Down the Beaver Valley the fans are wondering what kind of a team New Castle will have this season. They have plenty of reason to wonder.

Hope they get those holes on Highland avenue fixed before long. There is one that is a new opening and apparently is being held until the dirt settles. In the meantime somebody is going to break a spring if it isn't fixed up level.

A great scene at the B. and O. station this morning when the Boy Scouts got home. If they missed anything over there it must have been hidden, and for the next three months we can expect some tales of merrie old England.

Elect Principal For Princeton

Every Position In County Schools Except One Is Now Filled

At a meeting of the Board of School Directors of Slippery Rock Township, held Friday evening, Fred F. Foltz, a former county superintendent of the Mercer County schools was elected to the position of principal of the Princeton high school, succeeding Thomas Kelly who resigned.

J. Russell Munnell has been elected instructor in mathematics and athletic coach for the Mount Jackson high school in North Beaver township.

John C. Syling, county superintendent announced today that every position in the county school system had been filled, with the exception of one place at Rural Hill.

Voters To Have Second Opportunity To Enroll For Fall Election

Voters who did not get registered on August 29, the first day for registration will have their second opportunity on Tuesday, September 4, and those who did not get registered the first day are urged to do so on Tuesday.

The registration thus far is woefully light, much lighter than previous first days and in order to avoid crowding at the last minute and possible disqualification for voting, it is urged that the voters see to it that they do not forget on the second registration day.

Three Masses At St. Vitus Sunday

It was announced today that three masses will be celebrated at St. Vitus church on Sunday morning. The first mass will be celebrated at 7:30 a. m., the second at 9:30 and the last which will be a solemn high mass at 10:30.

Rev. DeMita will celebrate the first mass and also deliver the sermon. The second mass will be celebrated by Rev. McNamany. He will also deliver the sermon. The third mass will be celebrated by Rev. McNamany while Rev. DeMita delivers the sermon at this mass.

Many are expected to receive Holy Communion at the first two masses.

Cheep! Cheep! "Didja hear the Scotchman's idea of an outing at the seashore?" "What's that? Putting sand in the bathtub?" "No. He took a trip to Chicago, where he could see the crime wave."
